Second Mystery Witness Called In House Probe

Wisconsin Chemist Is Summoned To Answer Charges Of Chambers

REVEAL MILITARY INFORMATION TAKEN

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—House spy probers revealed today that important military information useful to Russia was contained in the government documents Moscow.

This development became known as the House Un-American Activities committee awaited the arrival of the second "mystery" witness accused of having furnished the documents to Ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers.

The committee has directed William Ward Pigman, of Appleton, Wis., to appear for questioning at 2 p. m. EST. Pigman was requested to appear voluntarily. Otherwise, a U. S. marshal will be asked to serve a subpoena on him.

Denies Chambers Charges

Pigman was reported en route to Washington to appear before the committee. His wife told International News Service that he had left in answer to "a telephone summons".

Now a research chemist at the Institute of Paper Chemistry, Pigman, reached at Appleton last night, denied Chambers' charges.

Committee sources stated that Pigman was named by Chambers as one of four men in the government who turned over to him in 1937 and 1938 documents from the state department and other federal agencies for the Soviet government.

The others, all named in secret testimony last Monday night in New York, were Alger Hiss, ex-state department official, who has denied the charge; Henry Julian Wadleigh, 44, who worked with Hiss; and an unidentified individual now dead. Wadleigh pleaded constitutional immunity Thursday and declined to confirm or deny the charge when questioned before the committee.

Some Disclosures

Committee sources revealed that some of the stolen documents found in microfilm form in a hollow pumpkin on Chambers' Maryland farm disclosed:

1. Secret messages from Paris to the state department regarding British plans for construction of battleships and cruisers.
2. Extremely confidential messages to the state department regarding troop movements in the Sino-Japanese war.
3. Coded documents regarding German purchases of linseed oil, valuable for war purposes, in Argentina at "excessive" prices.
4. Secret messages dealing with German attempts, subsequently successful, at Anchluss with Austria.
5. Highly secret disclosures of

Big Increase In Parcel Post

Business Will Be Doubled This Year Postmaster Hanna States

VOLUME SHOWS INCREASE DAILY

Indications point to a 100 per cent increase in the volume of parcel post here this Christmas season, Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today.

This makes it imperative for local residents to get their packages into the mails as soon as possible if they are to expect delivery by Christmas. Already, the packages are beginning to pile up in the railroad terminals.

Huge Truck Added

Employes who handle parcel post matter at the local post office have been working extra for the last two Sundays in order to have the parcel post packages cleared up for Monday delivery, and a huge army truck has been added here, which has been in use now for over two weeks.

Christmas cards for delivery outside the city should be in the mails now, Mr. Hanna stated, because the volume will begin to increase daily.

Additional employes are being added to the force here to assist in handling this tremendous volume of mail, and more will be put on daily as the need grows.

He served in the first world war, leaving the service with a lieutenant colonel's commission, and then served the federal government as legal adviser on war claims.

He is survived by five children.

Truman's Demand To Abolish House Probers Runs Into Opposition

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Truman's demand that the new House abolish its committee on Un-American activities today ran into a stonewall of opposition on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Truman may suffer defeat on this issue on Jan. 3 despite his sensational victory in the presidential race only last November.

Both southern Democrats and northern Republicans expressed doubt that the president can summon enough votes in the new House to abolish the committee. Most members, now in Washington, believe the committee has won the respect of the American people by its recent exposures of a Communist spy ring operating within the government.

Expect Move

The president, in again blasting the committee as a "red herring", called it a dead committee. Asked how it would be eliminated, he replied that Congress itself will take care of that.

Mr. Truman meant that some administration leader would move next Jan. 3, when the House meets

Churchill Demands Israel Recognition

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Dec. 10. — Winston Churchill demanded today that Britain end its "sulky boycott" of Palestine Jews and immediately grant recognition to Israel.

The wartime British premier, in a full-dress foreign affairs review before the House of Commons, simultaneously called for full diplomatic recognition of Franco Spain.

With regard to Russia, he said the west must reach a settlement with the Soviets "before they have the atomic bomb".

Blasts Handling

Churchill blasted the labor government's handling of the Palestine dispute as "a lamentable tale of prejudice and incapacity".

He claimed that Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin had "misjudged" the power of the two sides and had counted on the Arabs to win. Churchill added that he had never shared this opinion.

He called for recognition of the young Jewish state "without delay", adding:

"We would surely be foolish in the last degree to maintain this sort of sulky boycott."

Turning to the German question, the Conservative party leader said he looked forward "to the end of the hateful process of denazification and war crimes trials".

Churchill declared:

"Surely enough blood has been shed."

He termed the Berlin municipal elections last Sunday "proof of the resurrection of the German spirit, and a beacon casting light on the minds of a mighty race without whose effective aid Europe's glory could not be revived."

Marines To Land In Shanghai If Need Develops

SHANGHAI, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Admiral Oscar H. Badger, commander of the west Pacific fleet, announced today he would order marines to land in Shanghai if that becomes necessary for protection of American lives and property.

The admiral said the leathernecks, currently held in readiness aboard U. S. warships in Shanghai harbor, would be put ashore if local Chinese authority breaks down because of the civil war.

Personally, Badger said, he'd like to order the marines to land "tomorrow" but said he feared this would only create alarm.

Explaining evacuation plans, the admiral said that if it becomes necessary to move Shanghai's 2,500 Americans off the city's streets to avoid danger to their lives they would be taken aboard the U. S. warships in the harbor.

Then, he added, if the situation allows it, the Americans would be permitted to go ashore each day but would be required to return to the ships at nightfall.

Cindering Crews On District Highways

County Gets First Snow Of Season That Affects Highway Travel

State highway department cindering crews were given their first call of the season shortly after 5 o'clock this morning to apply ashes to district highways which were blanketed with the first area wide snow of the winter.

According to Highway Superintendent Alfred Martin, every available man was out on the job in all sections of the county working to keep traffic moving. A portion of the hundreds of tons of ashes which were stored up during the summer months was put into use. No tie-ups on district roads were noted with traffic moving along at a normal pace.

The highway head cautioned motorists to use discretion and to drive carefully in order to avoid accidents which can be avoided if care is exercised.

Chinese Red Forces Poised For New Drive

Expect Smash To Be Made Toward Tientsin And Peiping

REPORT 250,000 OF TROOPS ENCIRCLED

NANKING, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Fresh communist armies were poised today for a momentarily expected smash at Tientsin and Peiping. Meanwhile other red forces stepped up a drive toward the Yangtze between Nanking and Shanghai.

Decisive battles for the four biggest cities of north and central China were shaping up.

(The pro-communist New China News Agency in Hongkong claimed that 30,000 government troops were killed and wounded and 10,000 captured in the region where the provinces of Honan, Anhwei and Kiangsu converge. The agency said that 200,000 government soldiers were encircled in the area.)

Report 250,000 Massed

In the north, four powerful spearhead columns of eight communist armies, comprising perhaps 250,000 seasoned troops, were reported massed near Tangshan, 80 miles northeast of Tientsin.

These troops had been poured down across the eastern gates of the great wall from Manchuria in an advance directly toward the vital port of Tientsin.

They moved southwest into eastern Hopei province of north China proper along the coastal railroad to Tientsin, led by Gen. Lin Piao, communist commander in chief in Manchuria.

A military spokesman in Nanking admitted that Lin Piao now has "invaded" China with eight armies already moved below the great wall.

Seventy-five miles inland, north China's foremost metropolis of Peiping was simultaneously subjected to the mounting threat posed by other communist armies lashing at the city's northeast, northwest and southwest approaches. One red vanguard force was reported less than 25 miles northeast of Peiping.

Tientsin is Peiping's sea outlet. The port lies 75 miles southeast of Peiping, the former imperial Manchu dynasty capital of China.

Neutral military observers in Nanking took a grave view of the new communist operations in north China.

Testifies That He Hid Stolen U.S. Documents

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. — Nathan L. Levine, Brooklyn attorney, testfied today that for 10 years he hid stolen government secrets because Whittaker Chambers feared "liquidation" by Russian agents.

Levine, described as a nephew of Chambers' wife, told the House Un-American Activities committee he received the documents from Chambers in an envelope, with instructions to conceal it.

Levine testified:

"At the time he (Chambers) had been in morbid fear of being liquidated by the Communists.

"He had indicated to me that he feared that because he had broken with the Communists that they were going to assassinate him, his wife or other members of his family."

Hearing Resumed

Lower Temperature Followed By Snow

Half An Inch Of Snow Noted This Morning, With More Snow Due

Sub-freezing temperatures, which have prevailed here for the past two days, were followed by an half-inch fall of snow this morning, with a little more snow reported due during the next twenty-four hours, and lower temperatures.

Motorists were cautious in getting around this morning while they got the feel of driving on slippery streets.

The street department had the situation well in hand, ashing crews being out early to guard against accidents on the hills. The youngsters were also out early, enjoying the first visible snow fall of the season.

Kansas Power Plant Near Topeka, Scene Of Several Explosions

CAPITAL CITY POWER CUT OFF

(BULLETIN)

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 10.—An explosion and fire which wrecked the Kansas light and power plant claimed its ninth life today. Seventeen persons were hospitalized and all electricity in Topeka was cut off.

The plant, five miles east of Topeka in nearby Tecumseh, was shattered by a series of explosions preceding the fire.

The bodies of eight persons were recovered from the plant yesterday. A ninth victim died today at Stormont hospital.

Eight persons still were hospitalized.

The first explosion shut off power to the Kansas capital of 90,000 and halted electrically-operated clocks at 3:20 p. m. CST.

Electricity was cut off the capital city of 90,000 and other parts of northeast Kansas. Hospitals and radio stations switched to stand-by equipment and shops and offices closed early because of the power failure late yesterday.

Electric service was being restored today to special areas through company connection with power outlets in Omaha, Neb., and Wichita, Kans.

Witnesses at the scene of the blast reported many employes ignored their injuries and worked side by side with rescuers to recover bodies of the dead.

Boilers Blow Up

Officials said boilers in the big steam installations were believed to have blown up. But the cause of the blast could not be determined immediately. Police Captain E. R. Purdue said he believed the explosion caused fire to spread through the building.

Kelly Will Face Trial In Mercer

Indicted On Charges By Sharon Merchants On Movie Advertising Plan

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 10.—(INS)—Joseph Kelly, of Pittsburgh and California, will have an opportunity next week of convincing a Mercer county jury that the motion picture advertising business he carried on in western Pennsylvania was legal.

Kelly was indicted on three counts of false pretense by grand jury. Charges were filed by three Sharon merchants who claimed they paid the 55-year-old 200-pound "movie producer" for advertising which he was to show on theater screens.

Kelly, said to have been wanted in several district cities for failing to carry out his contract, was unable to furnish $1,500 bail last week and has been held in county jail. He denied any fraud intentions, claiming that some of the advertising film was being processed.

Snow Drives Men To City Jail For Night's Shelter

First snowfall of the season resulted in several wayfarers applying for a haven at the city jail, all of whom were given shelter throughout the night.

However, they were "incarcerated" as loiterers, and appeared as a mere formality in police court on Friday.

One man told the mayor he was from Jersey City, and his home having been broken up he had traveled west in search of employment. He was enroute to Warren, O. He was discharged.

Another said he was enroute to Pittsburgh, and promised that "I'll be out of town 15 minutes after I obtain a cup of coffee". He likewise was discharged.

A third, an elderly man, who said he was an inmate of the county home, and who was actually arrested for intoxication, was freed upon his promise to return immediately to the welfare institution.

Whenever any of the men apply for a place to sleep, they are locked up for the night, quizzed the morning after, and if their stories do not sound well, they are fingerprinted and photographed.

At present the city has no bunkroom, if having been turned over to the city painters. Their street sign work is done there, and the room is filled with cans of paint.

TRUMAN'S DEMAND ON HOUSE PROBERS MEETS OPPOSITION

to organize, to expunge the committee from its rolls. That will take a majority vote of the House.

Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., who fathered the committee in 1945, declared:

"By all means, the committee should be perpetuated. It has done as much, if not more, to expose the enemies within our gates than any other agency of the government.

"Regardless of what may be said about Whittaker Chambers, the fact remains that we have uncovered more than one hundred documents which were stolen from the state department for the purpose of passing them on to foreign governments in the most critical period of the nation's history.

Expects Continuance

"I don't have the slightest doubt but that the House, by an overwhelming vote, will continue it as a standing committee."

GOP Speaker Joseph W. Martin, who becomes minority leader Jan. 3, said:

"I don't think the committee will be abolished. I don't know the plans of the majority in the new House but I hardly expect them to do that."

Rep. Clarence Brown (R) Ohio, observed:

"I don't think the administration will have the votes to kill that committee. If they try it, it will be quite a fight."

The committee, as now constituted, was created as an integral part of the House organization on Jan. 3, 1945. Rankin introduced a surprise amendment to the rules of the House, which made the old Dies committee a part of the House structure—the same as its rules or appropriations committees. There was quite a fight but the Democratic House voted 208 to 186 to make the group a standing committee.

It is noted that the Rankin motion first was defeated, 134 to 146 on a viva voce vote. But when the roll was called, it was apvroved.

Opposition to creating the permanent committee was based largely on charges that there was friction among the members of the old Dies committee. This time the committee is united in demanding its perpetuation.

the view of Josef Beck, then premier of Poland, on the Soviet Union and Germany.

Accusations Fly

There was a cloudburst of accusations and counter-accusations between the committee and the justice department over the sensational spy case after President Truman called the group a "red herring".

Attorney General Tom Clark virtually demanded that the committee cease operations. Clark charged that "premature and ill-advised publicity" released by the committee "can and will seriously impair the administration of justice".

Alexander Campbell, chief of the justice department's criminal division, also scored the committee for what he called its obstruction of the federal case.

Rep. Mundt (R) S. D., replied that "we regard this as a blatant proposal to destroy the investigating authority of all congressional committees".

Chambers identified Pigman as a former employe of the U. S. bureau of standards, who left the government in 1939, but the nature of his work was not immediately revealed. However, it is known that the bureau of standards was conducting work on radar and the proximity fuse, two of the greatest secret weapons utilized in World War II.

fighting equipment were sent from Topeka to the little town of Tecumseh. State Highway patrolmen, sheriff's men and every Topeka policeman were placed on emergency duty.

Most of the bodies were burned and others had been crushed by falling beams and other debris. Several were sighted by firemen for half an hour or more before they could be removed. Flames, smoke and gas halted entry into the building.

AGED WOMAN SLAIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A 71-year-old woman was gagged and killed early today in her Brooklyn home by a man who police described as a light skinned Negro bent on burglarizing her apartment.

The victim is Mrs. Anna Meskervich, whose screams, just before a gag was tightened around her face, apparently frightened the would-be burglar away.

A daughter, Mrs. Anastasia Bush, who heard the screams, told police she saw the light skinned burglar flee. She said he looked rather young.

BENDING OVER BACKWARD

For the days, possibly months and perhaps years of grace that are now accorded them the seven condemned Japanese war lords can thank the delicate sense of justice possessed by the Supreme Court of the United States. Their cases will be reviewed and though they may yet suffer death by hanging, neither they nor anybody else can ever claim that they were denied the last protection of the law.

Probably it is best so. Although only a minority of the court was in favor of interfering with the verdict of the military tribunal, Justice Jackson, who finally cast the deciding vote, has good grounds for his action. He points out that with four justices demanding a hearing, rejection of the appeal would have done serious harm to the prestige and good faith of the United States. It would have been seized upon, he says, to impeach the justice of this country and "to comfort its critics and enemies."

From Mr. Jackson's statement it is quite clear that he would have preferred not to enter the proceedings. In that case, there would have been a tie vote and under the rules the Supreme Court would have washed its hands of the affair. That has happened before without causing serious controversy in this country.

But here the court is dealing with men of foreign blood and high representatives of a foreign nation. Under the circumstance, therefore, it is better that it bend over backward and let the world know that the United States gives complete justice to all.

FRANCE AND THE RUHR

France has served notice on the United States and Britain that it cannot accept those provisions of the joint Anglo-American plan which provide for future German control of the industrial Ruhr. This further complicates a situation that is currently acting as a brake to the economic and industrial recovery of western Europe.

The Anglo-American plan would have put the Ruhr industries in the hands of German trustees, when and if a German government is formed. The Allies would control the vital phases of distribution. Presumably, this would be the point at which any nationalistic expansion would be checked. French Ambassador Henri Bonnet calls these proposed controls "pure window dressing."

The French counter proposal is a three-point plan which calls for decartelization of the German combines and corporations in the Ruhr; de-nazification of the management of these industries; Allied control over production of coal, steel and coke, and a "voice in the distribution of investments these industries might make."

The two plans are not as far apart as rejection by the [illegible] assembly of the U. S.-British plan might imply. Fundamentally, both plans advocate putting Germany in harness with the rest of western Europe, and making the best use of its industrial capabilities toward a balanced and healthy economy for the western community.

France is haunted by three specters: that of Kaiser Wilhelm, of Adolf Hitler, and another whose identity is not clear at this moment, but who might be the future champion of German nationalism, should Germany be permitted to recoup unhampered by Allied control.

It remains, then, to settle the question as to how far the framework of control must go. Meanwhile, time is working against the Western Powers. Some compromise plan is needed at the earliest possible moment.

SPIES AT WORK

Latest revelations by the Committee on Un-American Activities have a shocking significance. They show that State and Navy Department secrets of the highest importance were turned over to an acknowledged agent of the communist party and presumably reached the Soviet government.

If it is true, as Representative Mundt declares, that the microfilms now brought to light constitute proof of "a vast network of communist espionage within the State Department," then, indeed, here is information "exceeding in importance anything brought before the committee in its 10 years' existence." As evidence which can be seen and felt, instead of merely heard, it puts completely in the shade the Hiss-Chambers libel suit and disclosures heretofore made of individual disloyalty to the United States. If it stands up in court it may become the basis for charges of treason.

The House committee is so sure of its case and so impressed by the need for immediate action that it is presenting the matter to a federal grand jury. That is the proper procedure and the way to determine not only the validity of the revelations but the guilt or innocence of the persons who may be involved. That is, if an able attorney is appointed to prosecute the case for the government. If the prosecution is turned over to an incompetent, nothing may come of the case regardless of the evidence.

Our idea of a bad insurance risk is the innocent bystander.

Russia will consider it an international crime, punishable with death, to use new weapons in war—until Russia has them.

The modern-day miracle of a nation remaining free and independent although surrounded by Soviet satellite nations and partially occupied by Russian troops was brought to world attention today by Austria's request for resumed negotiations for a definite peace treaty.

Encouraged by prompt approval of this request by the United States Government, Austria is confident that Great Britain and France will agree.

Hopeful Of Modified Attitude

And she is hopeful that Russia will modify her attitude. That was the stumbling-block before. Negotiations in London broke down when the Soviet Union backed Yugoslavian Marshal Tito's demand for a large slice of territory in central and southern Carinthia.

The hopes regarding Soviet collaboration are based largely upon Tito's break with the Soviet Cominform, as a result of which the Russians may not be so anxious to see the Yugoslav leader gain territory and population at the expense of Austria, which has been absolved of outright guilt for participation in the war.

It has been accepted internationally that Austria fought the Allies not as a sovereign nation but as a vassal which had been incorporated unwillingly into Adolf Hitler's German Reich.

Amazed At Events

Western observers have been amazed and gratified by events in Austria, where a maximum of public order has been observed since the close of the war and where the population has remained immune to Communist propaganda.

In the last election, less than 5 per cent voted Communist. The democratic feeling is so strong that the last Communist sympathizer has been compelled to leave the government and its leaders are supremely confident that any attempted Communist overthrow of the regime would be foredoomed to failure.

The case of Austria in postwar history is truly a phenomenom.

The capital city of Vienna lies farther east than Prague. Gen. Mark Clark, who served as American commander and military governor in Vienna until a few months ago, always characterized the country as the easternmost bulwark of democracy.

But while General Clark and other occupational officials always were alive to the possibility of a sudden Communist coup or gradual infiltration, these fears have receded with the passing months.

The trouble-spot always has been Carinthia and Austria is certain that if properly heard she can dispose of Tito's claims.

This territory was in dispute after the first world war.

Newly created Yugoslavia wanted much of the province and its ancient capital city of Klagenfurt despite the fact the population consists predominantly of German-

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRY NOT TO QUARREL WITH CHILD

It's amazing how many parents, some of them college graduates, will quarrel with their children. We parents ought to be too proud to fight with them. Some parents start this ugly practice when the youngster is only two or three, and by the time he is twelve or fourteen the wordy-warfare between child and parent may reach a very high degree of frequency and intensity.

One big cause of this shameful practice is the parent's failure to establish early, and without doubt, effective measures of basic control of the child. Trying so hard to be reasonable, she often has put too much faith in mere words when decisive action would have been much wiser. When in desperation she issues an ultimatum, the youngster is not much impressed, having learned from earlier experiences that the decision or command is not final until it has been repeated many times and until the parent is very angry. In the meanwhile both the parent and child may have grown more and more vexed at each other, betraying this vexation in their voices and words.

If your child has learned well by the time he is three the meaning of 'No' (seldom heard), and if you have limited force to the few necessary cases of forbiddings, have avoided positive commands but used positive suggestions instead during these early years, you will have removed a strong source of quarreling with the child. These principles I explain at length in my bulletins, "Stubbornness" and "How Teach Tot Meaning of NO," to be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Now let us consider the child, 8, 12 or 15, who often talks back to you in very ugly ways. He may even curse you. Are you going to curse him then? Are you going to talk back to him? Most parents seem to feel they must have the last word if it takes all night. But why? We parents being older and more experienced have the responsibility of self-mastery.

In Anger

Some parents in violent anger will slap the child's mouth then. But this is unwise, as it is done when both child and parent are very angry. Being weaker, the child then may only await the time when he can take revenge. Besides, it is physically such a dangerous thing to do. Anyway, we parents always lose respect of our child when we lose control of ourselves. I never could understand why some writers who in one breath condemn all physical punishment even of the pre-school child, will in the next breath say that if the child should exasperate you beyond endurance, it's all right to give him a whack. To me, this would seem to be the height of folly and barbarity.

At a quiet moment alone think through your problems with the older child who talks back to you—how far you provoke him to wrath needlessly, how you might boss less and guide him more intelligently, how well you are managing your emotions, and consider his good qualities. Resolve not to talk back, but to be most calm when the child is most agitated. My bulletin, "How to Control Your Temper," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Looking At Life

You have all read books and stories about famous men and women.

You have seen statues erected to famous men and women.

You have probably attended impressive receptions for, or funerals of, famous men and women.

I am now going to tell you a little story about one of these funerals, a story that you will not read in any history book.

But to realize the importance of this story, I first want you to understand the full meaning of the word "fame."

Now please don't look up the meaning of "fame" in the dictionary.

You wont find it there.

The full meaning of words like "love," "hope," "character," "Patriotism," "fame" is not found in dictionaries.

It is found only in the hearts of men and women.

Well, here it is.

"Coffee Sergeant Sammy" came back home a few days ago. He came back home to one of the toughest districts in New York City, the district of flophouses, saloons, pawnshops and police headquarters.

But "Coffee Sergeant Sammy" didn't come home the way he went, marching to war all dressed up in a uniform, his head high, his chest out, waving at his friends as he marched by on his way to tht pier.

"Coffee Sergeant Sammy" came home in a coffin to be the principal character at his own funeral.

Sammy's real and full name and title was "Private First Class Saverior Cortese of the 473rd Infantry, Fifth Army, killed in the assault on Bologna, Italy, April 18, 1945."

Sammy, who was only 25 years old when he was killed, was long a familiar figure around what is called the Center Market District of New York.

What was his business? What were his accomplishments? What was his record?

Funny thing—every police reporter, every detective, every news photographer, every cop in headquarters knew Sammy and loved him for his cheerfulness, his sense of humor, his readiness to serve, but nobody knew what he really did for a living.

Everybody called him "Coffte Sergeant Sammy" because every afternoon he used to come around and hustle up coffee and sandwiches for the reporters and run errands of all sorts for them.

That's really all they knew about Sammy.

But when they said the requiem mass for him at Old St. Patrick's Cathedral, there was on honor guard from Monroe Village Post, American Legion. There were veterans from all over the neighborhood and just neighbors and lots of kids, now grown up, with whom he shared a fews years in public school.

Then, at the hour when Sammy used to come to the reporters' and the detectives' rooms at Police Headquarters for his errand-orders, the funerral cortege, with Sammy in the lead, slowly filed by his former place of business.

And, lined up in military salute were all those tough detectives and those tough cops and those touch reporters and those tough photographers—every one of them with tender thoughts of "Coffee Sergeant Sammy" in those tough hearts of theirs.

And that, my friends, is one definition of "fame" you will not find in your dictionary.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

We can all profit from Errol Flynn's arrest for kicking a policeman in the shins . . . if we want to avoid brushes with the law let us stick to something safe like spying.

Although there is some indication that if spying continues to get undesirable publicity someone will have to be fined $5 and costs as an example to others.

It was particularly indelicate of this spy situation to reopen just as we were trying to concentrate on remembering Pearl Harbor . . . We can handle only one infamy at a time.

Mr. Flynn's mistake was that he had no pumpkins on him when arrested . . . not even a couple of feet of microfilm.

Under the circumstances he would find it impossible to get a committee organized to march on Washington screaming "Down with red herring investigations."

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

TO HIM WHO TAKES MY PLACE

Here is a toast that I want to drink to a fellow I'll never know—
To the fellow who's going to take my place when it's time for me to go.
I've wondered what kind of a chap he'll be, and I've wished I could take his hand,
Just to whisper, "I wish you well, old man," in a way that he'd understand.
I'd like to give him the warm handclasp when never a friend seems near.
I've learned my knowledge by sheer hard luck, and I wish I could pass it on
To the fellow who'll come to take my place, some day when I am gone,
Will he see all the sad mistakes I've made and note all the battles lost?
Will he ever guess of the tears they caused, or the heartaches which they cost?
Will he gaze through the failures and fruitless toil to the underlying plan,
And catch a glimpse of the real intent and the heart of the vanquished man?
I dare to hope he may pause some day as he toils as I have wrought
And gain some strength for his weary task from the battles which I have fought.
But I've only the task itself to leave with the cares for him to face,
And never a cheering word may speak to the fellow who'll take my place.
Then here's to your health, old chap, I drink as a bridegroom to his bride;
I leave an unfinished work to you, but God knows how I tried.
I've dreamed my dreams, as all men do, but never a one came true,
And my prayer today is that all the dreams may be realized by you.
And we'll meet some day in the great unknown—out in the realm of space;
You'll know my clasp as I take your hand and gaze into your face.
Then all our failures will be success in the light of the new-found dawn—
So I'm drinking your health, old chap, who'll take my place when I am gone.

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Envoy To Russia Is Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Whatever President Truman's inclinations may be about changing the principals in his administration, he is likely to be faced soon with a vacancy that is bound to be troublesome. It is a job that is tough, demanding, nerve-racking, with little or no reward.

Shortly before the first of the year Walter Bedell Smith will return to Washington from Moscow, theoretically on leave from his post as ambassador to the Soviet Union. But no one in the state department expects him to return to the frustrating prison that is Spaso House, the barracks-like residence of the ambassador.

Smith has had more than two years of Moscow and he has indicated to friends that he thinks it is more than enough. Moreover, he has had some extraordinary offers from private business and publishing firms, including a particularly tempting one from the Radio Corporation of America.

There is also the possibility that Smith, who came out of the war with the permanent rank of major general, may go back to active duty in the army. At 53, with a brilliant career behind him, he would have an excellent chance to become chief of staff before enforced retirement at the age of 64.

Entire Life In Army

With the exception of his service as ambassador, he has spent his entire life in the army, having risen from private to be chief of staff to General Eisenhower in North Africa and Europe. Smith has no private income and would ultimately retire on his pension unless he were to take one of the offers from private business.

Virtually all Americans returning from Russia today, whether officials or the few newspapermen and other private citizens who are admitted, have the same story to tell. The close confinement in which foreigners live, with constant surveillance seen and unseen, is a wearing and nerve-eroding experience.

There was a time a year or more ago when a few Russians still felt free to meet and talk with foreign diplomats. Among the number were artists, writers and stars of the ballet.

Last Christmas a member of the American embassy staff invited some of these tame Russians to a holiday party. Without exception they declined, giving one transparent excuse or another. Privately, word was conveyed to the host that even this limited fraternizing was now at an end.

Rarely Sees Molotov

Since that time Americans and other foreigners have been almost entirely isolated. Aside from a few employees, almost the only Russian citizen that the ambassador sees is the head of the American desk in the Soviet foreign office. Rarely, if he presses hard enough and makes a sufficient number of protests and calls, he may see Foreign Minister Molotov, who greets him with the warm cordiality of an arctic glacier. Even for the present ambassador, who is not socially inclined, it is a bleak experience and for Mrs. Smith and other women the life is lonely to an extreme degree.

Fat cats who have contributed generously to party coffers are ordinarily eager for ambassadorships. But none is likely to seek the Moscow post nor would the job under present circumstances go to one with no experience with the Russians. Smith dealt with them for many months during the war and Marshal Zhukov personally awarded him the Order of Kutuzov, first class.

Sick Man Of Politics

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10.—Ill-abed since November 2nd lies the Republican party, victim of post-electionitis. Round the royal couch hover doctors, anxious relatives and a few enterprising morticians. It is a piteous scene and we pause to do it reverence.

"Bleed the patient" is the advice of some doctors. Bleed him, that is, of his conservative corpuscles. Doctors of this persuasion, it is interesting to note, are mostly graduates of the Wendell Willkie School of Medicine. Russell Davenport, a loyal Willkie alumnus, has publicly called for a change in party leadership. "It is not conceivable", says Davenport in a letter to the N. Y. Times, "that the Republican party will ever emerge from the desperate situation so long as the leadership of the House is vested in Joseph Martin, Charles Halleck . . . so long as domestic affairs in the Senate are dominated by Robert A. Taft."

Echoed Since By Liberals

Davenport's call, issued as early as November 4th, has been echoed ever since by the self-styled liberals. But theirs is a purgative remedy at best. It saps the strength but adds none. It would reduce the GOP to a pale replica of the party which has defeated it five times running. Back in 1940 it was Mr. Willkie's "me too" aspects which so confused his backers and started the Democrats on their multiple term momentum.

"Come up fighting" is the word from other medics. National Republican Chairman Hugh Scott sees nothing wrong with the patient except that he was fouled in the recent title bout. Democratic "pressure bribery" and "appeasement of the radicals", says Scott, are the blows which put the GOP on the sick list. The party chairman calls upon the patient to rise up and "slug toe to toe . . . with the demogogues."

This Spartan advice, thus far, has not raised up the patient but it has caused a raising of eyebrows all around the bedside. Relatives of the sick man seem startled, even affronted by the callous advice. After all, Chairman Scott and Candidate Dewey had a perfect chance to do their slugging when the election was on. Their failure to do so is a hindsight reason why the GOP now lies so low.

How Scott Got His Post

And the same relatives in their family huddles are recalling how Scott, never a dominant figure, came by his present post. It is all part of the Philadelphia story in which the Pennsylvania convention votes went to Dewey, the Pennsylvania University presidency to Harold Stassen and the party chairmanship to Scott, a Pennsylvania representative. Safest bedside bet is that Scott will cease to be chairman as soon as the national committee holds its next meeting.

"Rest and recuperation" is probably the sanest advice being given the sick man. Speaker Joe Martin said something of the sort when he declared that the House minority would "go along" for a while with President Truman's legislative program. There is a large share of Yankee horse sense in this decision. It admits that, after all, the voters did specify a preference for the Tru Deal. The next two years will test the wisdom of the people's choice and will afford the Republicans a breathing spell in leadership.

No Period of Do-Nothing

But it need not be a period of do-nothing. In point of fact, labor's tory workers have already begun to diagnose the party ailment. A staff of analysts at the national committee headquarters is picking apart the election returnss, not only of the presidential contest but of the House and Senate. Dr. Floyd E. McCaffree, formerly of the University of Michigan Political Science Department, is chief of this research. McCaffree says that it will take months before clerks in distant court houses and in state capitols can be prevailed upon to mail in the detailed balloting. But when this data is available, he will break it down district by district in the key elections, study the local conditions and campaign speeches, try to equate the various factors which caused the known results.

Not until this is done can the party doctors prescribe for their patient's recovery.

As for the waiting morticians, they had better go for a long walk. Only a few weeks ago, there was another political invalid who seemed to be in extremis. But the Democratic Party lived to haunt the would-be ambalmers. And so will the GOP.

SANTA'S RETURN

The little man in the coat of red
And the snow white beard,
With the smile that over his face is spread,
Has re-appeared.

The children watch for him, open-eyed,
And they shout with glee
Whererver we walk or wherever we ride
Their friend to see.

Oh, I'm sure as they hail him from the car
With his toy-filled pack,
That I'm just as glad as the children are
To have him back.

Eleven long months he has been away.
Now his presence here
Is proof to the children that Christmas Day
Is drawing near.

BIBLE THOUGHT

Be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous: not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.—I Pet. 3:8, 9.

The World and the Mud Puddles

CAN'T BE WRONG

I have often said in this column that a grateful people would rejoice and be exceedingly glad if the legislative body would repeal obnoxious laws instead of making new ones.

The English Parliament is just now beginning on a so-called repealing party, and we in the United States will watch with interest the results of England's five-year moratorium on the death penalty. One reason for this interest is the tradition that British justice toward capital offenders is swift and sure. Whether abolition of capital punishment will encourage capital crimes is a question that may not be determined definitely even in five years.

But elimination of the death penalty, according to a London correspondent, is only part of a general move on the part of the Labor Government to clean up scores of ancient and obsolete statutes. The criminal code of England comprises scores of volumes. Many of the laws still on the books date back to the year 1235. Some of them are ignored, but there is always the possibility that they may be invoker, regardless of their extreme and unreasonable nature. It is said that the titles alone, of the body of laws to be repealed, fill nearly one hundred fifty volumes.

On Right Track

The Labor Government seems to be on the right track in clearing up the accumulated legal rubish of half a century. With all our

Whole New Era In Air Warfare Is Now Foreseen

Air Force Bombers 8,000 Flight Gives New Outlook On Situation

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A whole new era in potential aerial warfare was opened with disclosure that a B-36 U. S. air force bomber has flown a successful 8,000-mile non-stop bombing mission from Texas to Honolulu and back.

The latest accomplishment of the giant, six-motored bomber—America's mightiest — was announced in Fort Worth by Brig. Gen J. B. Montgomery, director of operations for the strategic air command.

Made Flight In 35 Hours

Montgomery said that the plane left Garswell Air Force base at Fort Worth, travelled non-stop by way of San Diego, Calif., and completed the long-range flight in 35 hours.

Its bombs were dropped in the ocean off the Hawaiian Islands.

The B-36 carried a complement of 15 men and a normal bomb load, estimated at 10,000 pounds.

General Montgomery, who came to Fort Worth from his base at Offutt Field, Omaha, Neb., said the flight was the longest ever taken by the B-36. Previous test flights have been staged over the United States only.

Plan 10,000-Mile Flight

Plans now are under way to fly a B-36 non-stop from New York to Hawaii and return, a distance of 10,000 miles.

Ten thousand miles is considered the range of the big bomber. Montgomery said that the 8,000-mile flight to Honolulu was well within the capabilities of the plane and was a "routine training mission".

The B-36 is the world's largest land bomber. It is built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Co., at Fort Worth for the air force.

Top speed of the B-36 still is a secret, but it is known to be over 350 miles per hour.

Air force officials have revealed a few facts about the bomber. The plane's six triple-bladed propellors have built in anti-icing systems for high altitude flights, and its ceiling is above 40,000 feet. . . .

Wing Span 230 Feet

The wing span is 230 feet. It is the height of a four-story building, and has as much horsepower in six 3,500 horsepower engines as in five locomotives. The bomber carries the equivalent of two railroad tanks of gasoline.

Estimated to cost $3,000,000, the B-36 already has lifted a gross load of 300,000 pounds.

Gen. George C. Kinney, former commander of the Strategic Air Command, said that a B-36 has dumped a 72,000 pound bomb into the Gulf of Mexico, the heaviest load of explosives ever carried by a plane.

It is true that a person may die of fright. It is apparent that fright causes profound physical changes in the body, and these are sometimes severe enough to cause death.

HOME-MADE CHRISTMAS TREE DECORATIONS

Of course, one can buy Christmas tree decorations at the local five and ten or in other stores but it will be more fun for most children to make their own.

Many of us remember stringing cranberries and popcorn or making chains from inter-locked circles of colored paper. These old-fashioned home-made decorations are still good but there are many other ways of making one's own decorations, too.

Bits of tin or lead-foil from commercial packaging can either be cut into strips and serve as icicles or moulded around buttons and other small articles and hung by threads from the branches.

Bits of colored cloth cut into various forms—stars, circles, dolls—almost anything—may be pasted on cardboard. If both sides of the card-board backing are covered, the dangling decorations will be most effective. Costume jewelry can play its part, too.

Indeed, there are all sorts of things around the house that may be used. Part of the fun is getting new ideas. And how much fun it is to see your own decorations bedecking the beloved Christmas tree!

Smith is Charles Bohlen, the State Department's foremost Russian authority who was named counselor of the department by Secretary of State Marshall. Besides several years of service in Moscow, Bohlen served as interpreter between Stalin and Roosevelt at both the Teheran and Yalta conferences.

Through the years of the war and after, Bohlen has worked closely with W. Averell. Harriman who may be Secretary of State if illness prevents Marshall's return to his job. Harriman was ambassador to Moscow from 1943 to '46. With Harriman in Washington and Bohlen in Moscow, we would have an able team to cope with the major problem of foreign policy.

boasts of progress and advancement of justice, we still have in many of our States a large number of outmoded and absurd statutes dealing with crime and misdemeanors, dating back to the early colonial times. A general overhauling might not be a bad idea here also.

Our law makers can do better than all this. As far as criminal laws are concerned, our legislators could abolish our ideas of leniency or probation which we should unquestionably realize have made for absurd trials and absurd penalties, but we could eliminate ancient unchanged and absurd laws covering trials and penalties invoked right here at home.

speaking Austrians who had been citizens of the Austro-Hungarian empire for centuries.

A plebiscite was held under international supervision in 1920 and the population voted 95 per cent to remain with Austria.

Since that time and despite Yugoslav Communist agitation there have been no complaints from the tiny Slovene minority.

No Desire To Emigrate

Austrian officials say the government would make no attempt to restrain any Slovenes who wished to live under Tito's rule, although under present conditions the British would have to make the decision as they occupy Carinthia.

But there never has been any outward sign of a desire to emigrate.

In her demand for treaty negotiations, Austria is anxious to achieve two things. One is complete national sovereignty; the other is an army of 50,000 men or so to guarantee order after the Allies withdrawal.

So far as the possibility of a Communist revolt in the event of such a withdrawal is concerned, the Austrians emphasize that the Soviets, with a large army on hand, are better fitted to strike now than at any other time. But they realize the utter unwillingness of the Austrian people to collaborate.

Strange Doings In Many Local Homes These Days

There's strange goings on in most households about the city at the present time!

Whispering among the older folk is quite prevalent, while a marked difference is observed in the behaviour and general deportment of the younger members of the family.

Christmas Is in Air

Of course, it isn't hard to guess what's up. Sure, Christmas is in the air. This accounts for the strange actions of mum and dad and the sudden change in the habits of Johnnie and Mary. And this, too, reveals why certain cupboards and closets about the home suddenly have become forbidden territory for prying eyes and reaching hands.

"Do Not Open Until Christmas" in large letters is found on every questionable package and box which somehow or other has gotten into the home during the absence of boys and girls in school. Curiosity is written on almost every face of the younger members of the family, who are fairly itching to undo all the fancy wrappings on those packages.

Work with Santa

This year mothers and fathers, working in conjunction with Santa and his corps of workers, promise a large variety of toys for exemplary boys and girls, due to the fact that the toy factories have been able to get a large supply of steel and other critical materials which go into the manufacture of all the trucks, fire engines, wagons, tricycles and countless other gadgets which have been made to intrigue the younger minds of the house.

Interesting to note among the laugh-provoking toys that will be found in stockings on mantels about the city Christmas morning will be mechanical imitations of most of the boys' and girls' favorite comic characters. Even Humphrey Pennyworth and his famed blacksmith shop on wheels will be found, as will little Denny Dimwit of Perry Winkle fame.

So, on your toes, boys and girls, let's keep up the good work and awaken Christmas morning ready to delve into those bundles which have been long awaiting tiny fingrs to open them.

WASH LINEN

Don't make unnecessary wrinkles when you are washing your table damask. After rinsing thoroughly, arrange each piece in long folds to run through the wringer. Hang in the sun, if possible, and iron before it is quite dry, with a very hot iron.

Devise New Methods In Liquor Screening

New York State Develops At Least 23 Methods In Barring Minors From Bars And Inns

NEW YORK—(INS)—There have been developed 23 methods to screen out minors who try to purchase liquor in the nation's licensed bars and package stores.

These methods—according to a study by Licensed Beverage Industries—consist of techniques worked out by the proprietors of retail outlets in cooperation with state liquor control officials. The suvey covers the 15 years since the repeal of prohibition.

Some of these screening methods have even been written into the statutes of states and municipalities and made compulsory.

Some of the ways used to prevent a minor deceiving a bartender or a retail clerk as to age are (1) requiring the youth to sign all statements; (2) producing a birth certificate; (3) drivers license; (4) social security card; (5) military identification; (6) selective service registration; (7) discharge papers and (8) a fraternal membership card.

Includes Birthplace, Date

The study notes that upon the liquor industry's insistence "for the first time," selective service identification contains not only the name and address of the 18 to 25 year old registrant, but the date and place of birth. Service rules further require members of the armed forces to abide by state age provisions banning minors from purchasing liquor.

This innovation is expected to bolster dealers' efforts to reduce always has been difficult because military drinking by minors. This "youth in uniform feel that if they're old enough to fight, they're old enough to drink".

The New York law which defines a minor as any person under 18 is said to be one factor in its "fine record of a few law violations of this nature".

Non-Fraternization Plan Disappearing In Germany

By TOM AGOSTON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

FRANKFURT, Dec. 10.—The last vestiges of the Army's non-fraternization program, aimed at limiting German-American marriages, are disappearing.

Reliable sources report that the U. S. military government is now permitting or shutting its eyes to marriages between American businessmen and their German sweethearts.

Military government sources said that American officials are now considering further lifting the marriage ban as regards civilian personnel attached to the army. The step may be taken within a few weeks.

Allowed To Stay In U. S. Zone

It is further reported that the newly-married couples are being allowed to stay in the U. S. zone indefinitely, whereas previously they were forced to leave in 30 days.

The impending change in the fraternization rulings will be the third since the occupation began. The strict wartime non-fraternization ruling was lifted at the end of 1945.

In December 1946, the ban against marriage of GI's and German women was lifted.

The relaxing of the marital restrictions will evidently apply only to American citizens. Thus far there is no indication that British or French Nationals will get a similar "green light."

Housing Shortage Reason

Several top level British and French officials, for example, have already been required to leave Frankfort, the tri-zonal capital, because of having married German women. The reason given them was a housing shortage.

The projected changes concerning American-German marriages will not, according to informed sources, make the German wife eligible to the privileges of a U. S. dependent in an occupied country.

Legal experts believe that the German wives could eventually become citizens as non-quota immigrants.

The American switch in position has not been announced publicly, and is being kept quiet, because of the flood of marriage applications such a move would bring.

The only occupation zone still maintaining a strict non-fraternization policy is the Russian.

Fights Ruth's Will

ONE OF TWO adopted daughters of baseball's immortal George Herman "Babe" Ruth, Mrs. Dorothy Helen Ruth Sullivan (above), 27, of New York has engaged a lawyer in an effort to upset his will because "she wasn't being fairly dealt with." The will bequeaths $5,000 in cash to her and 45 percent of the estate after the death of Ruth's widow. Dorothy had previously signed a waiver agreeing not to contest the will. (International)

Bible Classes Have United Meeting

Thursday evening, members of the M. E. G. Auxiliary and the K. J. U. Bible class of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church united for their meeting in the home of Mrs. Clifford Comstock, 326 Fairmont avenue. The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Separate business meetings of both groups took place with reports of activities heard. A bountiful supply of gifts was brought by the members to be packed and sent to a southern mission. It was voted to contribute $100 to the furnishing of a new church kitchen in the upstairs of the church. Mrs. J. H. McCann, teacher of the class was presented with a lovely gift.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. John Martin, with Mrs. Wade Daugherty leading in prayer. The group sang "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing". The meeting was turned over to Mrs. James Miller who read two Christmas stories, by John H. Holmes.

Lunch was served by the hostess, aided by: Mrs. Ray Fisher, Mrs. G. G. Horchler, Mrs. J. H. McCann, Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. G. O. Sheidemantle, Mrs. Paul Bender. The group will meet again in January.

Other officers are: Joe Paglia, vice-president; Bill Hanna, treasurer; Peter Grittie, secretary; Paul Shannon, first assistant chief; Bert Taylor, second assistant; Vic Hanna, captain; Henry Grittie, lieutenant; and Earl Ammons, trustee.

Indict Three On Charges Of Traffic Racket

SHARON, Pa., Dec. 10.—(INS)—Three men arrested last month by State police on charges of victimizing Ohio motorists in a speed trap racket near Wheatland have been indicted by a Mercer county grand jury.

Justice of the Peace Emory Johnson of Wheatland entered a plea of guilty to a charge of extortion, District Attorney John R. Boland announced.

Constable Eugene Reichard of Shenango township, near West Middlesex, was indicted on an extortion charge, and William Perrine, of Farrell, a former constable, was indicted for impersonating an officer.

State police charge Reichard and Perrine, who was dressed as a police officer, set up a speed trap at the intersection of the Hubbard-West Middlesex and the Wheatland highways, near Wheatland, and stopped only cars bearing Ohio licenses.

The two officers, police charged, would immediately take the driver before Justice of the Peace Johnson. State police claim Johnson levied fines of from $18 to $22 on the drivers for speeding and stop sign offenses on which the state law maximum is $8.50.

State police started their investigation early in November after receiving complaints from several Ohio motorists.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Police today sought two young men who held up the assistant manager of a Philadelphia insurance company and escaped with $12,000 he was taking to the bank for deposit.

The robbery took place in broad daylight yesterday as Frank Vinci, 41, neared a mid-Philadelphia bank with $6,000 cash and $6,000 in checks which he told police were negotiable.

Vinci said the two men cornered him and forced him to drop the moneybag to the ground. Then they fled in a dark sedan that was cruising up Broad street.

Woman Hides Jewels, Saves $20,000 Gems

BROOKLINE, Mass., Dec. 10. — (INS) — Laugh at women's "notions" if you will—but a notion saved Mrs. Carole Young, 27-year-old wife of a Brookline shoe magnate, $20,000 in jewels today.

Mrs. Young took the jewels from a bank vault yesterday and just "on a notion" put them in a pocket of a housecoat when she got home.

Later she went shopping, and returned to find the house had been broken into.

There were signs of a thorough search—but the thief, not hep to women's ways, did not think to look in the housecoat and the jewels were untouched.

Mrs. Young had another "notion." She put the jewels back in the bank vault.

Boy Crosses Pacific To Recover Speech

WICHITA, Kan., (INS)—Johnny Reid, a seven-year-old Australian youngster who has not been able to speak for five years recently completed an 8,000 mile journey in hopes of regaining the power of speech.

The boy came to enroll at the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita Kansas, for speech correction training. When he was two years old, Johnny was stricken with an inflammation of the brain. When he recovered, his speech was gone.

Australian specialists said they could do nothing more for him. His father, a newspaper man learned of the institute's success in re-training children with all types of speech handicaps and wrote to the clinic seeking aid for his son.

Charles Skouras, president of National Theaters corporation, learned of the Reid case and offered financial assistance to bring the boy and his family here.

While John is striving to overcome his handicap his father will be employed by a local newspaper.

Man Picks Wrong Car For Snooze

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2—(INS)—Two Manyunk police heard a snore coming from an automobile so they went to investigate.

The culprit, Robert Bell, 21, a recently discharged marine, was taken before a magistrate and fined. He might have gotten away with his stolen nap if the car he picked to sleep in handn't been the police chief's.

F.E.P.C. Committee To Be Organized

Permanent Committee Is Planned; First Meeting Held On Tuesday

Israel Moss met with a group of New Castle people to form a permanent F.E.P.C. committee in Lawrence county Tuesday.

A nominating committee was appointed to prepare the slate for the next meeting of the committee. The following are on this committee: Rabbi Gruen, Attorney Levine and Dr. Gillespie. This group is also to act as the action committee for all until our next meeting. Mrs. Eunice Jackson Williams was elected as secretary of the group.

Mr. Moss explained the work of the committee. Several of the group obtained petitions from Mr. Moss for the F.E.P.C. bill. He stated that there was a transcription from the "Lest We Forget" series available for any club that wants to use such on its program and also the U.A.W. has a movie based on the "Brotherhood of Man" that could be available in a week or so.

Lawrence county's council for a Pennsylvania F.E.P.C. will be one of the many being established all over the state to better acquaint the people with the workings of the law and to work toward its speedy passage in the 1949 legislature. All the county councils are coordinated with the State Council for a Pennsylvania F.E.P.C. which has its headquarters in Philadelphia.

Last year shipments of supplies to and products from the steel industry accounted for 12 per cent of the U. S. freight bill.

The first gas range was built in the United States a century ago—in the so-called "roaring forties." The burners consisted of an iron ring filled with sand and placed on a wire screen. Gas was fed through the screen and ignited on top of the sand.

Medical Survey Asked For Alaska

Health Problems Are Cited By Committee From American Medical Society

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Secretary of the Interior Krug today was urged to provide more hospitals, doctors, dentists, nurses and medical technicians for Alaska.

A committee of prominent physicians named by the American Medical Association at the interior department's request to survey medical conditions in the territory listed nine "most urgent" health problems there. They are:

1. The high incidence of all forms of tuberculosis, especially among the natives, and the inadequate facilities for their treatment.

2. The shortage of doctors, nurses and medical technologists, especially in the Alaska native service, which is under the bureau of Indian affairs.

3. The lack of adequate general hospital beds in certain communities and the absence of any psychiatric hospital in the entire territory.

Inadequate Control

4. Inadequate control of preventable and communicable disease, particularly venereal disease.

5. Lack of adequate sanitation in towns and villages throughout the territory.

6. The frequency of alcoholism and the social and economic problems it involves.

7. The common occurrence of eye diseases, and the need for an ophthalmologist to conduct research on the prevention and treatment of these diseases.

8. A shortage of dentists in the Alaska native service and a lack of dental care among natives.

9. Low standards of housing, education and hygiene among natives which help to make them "easy prey to disease".

The committee reported that there was a marked deterioration" in living standards, disease rates, illegitimacy, indigence and broken homes in villages where liquor was sold.

President Will Have Conference On New Labor Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—President Truman said Thursday that he would probably confer with labor department officials at a later date on a new labor law to replace the Taft-Hartley Act.

He explained at his news conference that he had not taken up this matter as yet, adding that he presumed that the proper officials would come in to see him about it in the near future.

The president is pledged to support repeal of this act, passed by the Republican controlled 80th Congress. But it has been made clear, in asking the new Democratic Congress to repeal it, he will request new legislation.

In response to a further question, he declared that no labor-management conference on labor questions was in sight.

It's the Buick SUPER! With Dynaflow Drive! With new room—a new outlook—and features-by-the-fistful that make it the season's top buy!

RIGHT away you know it's a Buick—and another style ten-strike.

And even from the outside you can sense something of its new roominess, something of the wonderfully wide view-of-the-world you get from full-curved windshield, narrow corner posts and stepped-up glass area.

But that just makes a start on the good news.

For the silken magic of sensationally successful Dynaflow Drive† is available at your option on all models of this '49 SUPER.

Every wheel rides on Buick's special soft coil springs. Every tire is an oversize cushion mounted on a wider-than-usual rim. And every Dynaflow model has an extra plus in self-adjusting valve lifters that keep valves seating themselves just right.

Indeed, each detail—wide swinging doors, gracefully streamlined taillights, contoured rear bumper, Hi-Poised engine, fine rich finish—marks this as the year's standout car.

And the price tag? Matched against the field, it is almost a command to get your order in.

Check it and see. Your Buick dealer will be happy to oblige—and talk business whether or not you have a car to trade.

Russians Deliver Stern Warning To Finnish Officials

MOSCOW, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Radio Moscow announced today that Russia has sent a stern note to Finland protesting "actions of a hostile character against the Soviet Union".

The broadcast said the note was submitted to the Finnish foreign ministry by the Soviet charge d'affairs in Helsinki.

It objected to actions by "irresponsible elements aimed at worsening relations between Finland and the USSR."

Specifically, the note protested "anti-Soviet plays" staged in the Finnish National theater.

It added:

"The Finnish government should immediately take requisite measures to stop such ill-intentioned actions."

Dairying predominates in New England, where the average size of a farm is 100 acres.

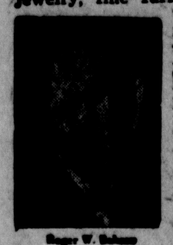
Babson Gives Ideas On Automobile Securities

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1948, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, Dec. 10.—If you think you can't afford to give your wife on Christmas some good jewelry, fine furniture, or something else real, it may be O. K. to give her and yourself a good new motor car, provided it has no gear shift. Therefore, I will this week discuss the automobile industry.



Roger W. Babson

It is very evident from what I learn here in New York that the insiders have been getting out of their motor stocks ever since Harry Truman was re-elected. They fear a fourth round of wages, frozen prices and a drying up of purchasing power due to the general high cost of living. The following are the prices of stocks on certain dates:

Name of Company	1946 High	before election	1948 today
General Motors	80⅝	65⅛	57¼
Chrysler	*141	94¼	82
Studebaker	38⅛	27	21⅝
Hudson Motor	34⅛	17	13⅛
Nash-Kelvinator	26⅝	18⅝	15⅛
Kaiser-Fraser	17⅞	10⅛	8¼
Mack Trucks	*76⅝	18¼	14

(Ford stocks are all family owned and are not traded on the exchange.)

*Not adjusted to split-up.

Considering the large output of cars which these companies are producing and the apparent good future outlook, today's stock prices are very significant of what the big manufacturers themselves think.

Secondhand Market

Certainly the used-car market is going to smash. If you have doubts, ask any dealer what he will pay you in cash for your old car. In many cases you will find this to be only half what you would have had to pay for the same secondhand car six months ago, while since November 2, 1948, you cannot get a bid for your secondhand trucks.

I do not blame the dealers. They had a terrible time during the war and have been entitled to two years of good business. It seems a shame that they must give to Uncle Sam so much of it in taxes. So many speculative buyers, however, placed orders with several different dealers that the new car market is also messed up. These and other facts will soon be brought out at public hearings in Washington together with accounts of the trade-in holdups and black market transactions.

Why Insiders Are Bearish

In asking a large manufacturer why he is not buying his own motor stocks, he said, in addition to whining about coming wage increases, frozen prices and the election: "The 1948-49 cars are not too good anyway. The bodies and mudguards are made of tin; you can't get into some cars without knocking your hat off; the doors are too wide and heavy; the headlights are for ornaments instead of usefulness: while customers are getting tired of being forced to buy all kinds of accessories."

Automobile owners enjoy reading illustrated newspaper advertisements of their own and other cars. These printed advertisements are instructive and interesting, but the public is tired of listening to the automobile ballyhoo that comes over the radio. Owners are at last beginning to realize that they are paying for these expensive radio programs which expense is added to the price of the cars. It is too bad that the automobile dealers must suffer from these extravagant and mistaken policies of the motor car manufacturers.

Motor Stocks As An Investment

Notwithstanding the above comments, I had much rather have my money in a new automobile than in the stock of the company which is manufacturing it. Certainly, I would not buy a secondhand car which had the old standard gear shift. One might as well buy a horse and buggy. Just in closing let me say that there is one man in the world who could knock my forecasts galleywest. His name is Joe Stalin! If our troops should get mixed up with his soldiers in China or elsewhere, we all would be thankful to own any kind of an automobile at almost any price, especially if Joe should "accidentally" drop a bomb on Detroit!

MORE CATTLE

HARRISBURG—The cattle feeding situation to the end of October indicates a volume for the nation about the same or slightly larger than last year, according to federal-state studies announced by the State Department of Agriculture. Purchase of feeder animals was heavy during late October and early November, many being brought into Pennsylvania.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

WOMEN SHOULD DEMAND RESPECT

Why is it that girls do not demand masculine consideration and respect that was once theirs without asking?

I am referring to "nice" girls who are either desperate for male attention and consequently willing to beg for it or who have never heard that man pursues woman; woman never obviously pursues man.

Here are a few such examples of feminine aggressiveness or thoughtlessness or desperation:

A man and woman walking in opposite directions recognize each other just as they dash by. Suddenly they stop to say "hello". He remains stationary while she walks back to shake hands with him instead of letting him walk the few steps to her. Sometimes, I have noticed, the man neglects to raise his hat to her when meeting or parting.

Another one: the girl who stops at a man friend's table in a restaurant. He remains seated while she stands indefinitely without realizing that he is being, perhaps unwittingly, rude to her.

Then there's the kind of girl who tells the world by her glances and clinging vine technique that she is simply crazy about her male companion. This she shows by her adoring glances, her affectionate pats. Public demonstrations of affection are in very bad taste. And when the woman is the offender, especially without any cooperation from the object of her affections, the situation is even more ridiculous.

Among the more serious breaches: Tolerating a man's vulgar and profane exclamations, permitting him to relate in her presence risque stories.

A woman receives only the respect that she demands. Don't sell yourself cheap!

Eagles have trouble getting off the ground to take flight, and perch high for an easier takeoff.

Credit Buying Is On Increase

A. J. Genkinger Of New Castle Credit Exchange Offers Some Suggestions

Credit purchases are hitting an all-time high in New Castle, according to A. J. Genkinger, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange. Requests for credit are steadily mounting as Christmas shopping gets into full swing.

Charging Christmas presents is not a new idea that people have just discovered. Genkinger says that last year's Christmas rush came in for its share of credit buying, too. But what brings particular attention to Christmas, 1948, is that more and more people are asking for credit in greater amounts. Families are using charge account privileges and instalment payment plans to buy almost every type of gift.

"This increased use of credit isn't alarming if customers don't get completely carried away with the Christmas spirit. A study of the national credit picture by the Associated Credit Bureaus of America indicates that credit customers are still within bounds. While credit outstanding is at an all-time high, its ratio to the present total national income is not as large as the ratio in 1941."

Genkinger suggests following four rules to keep your own purchases in line with your income and says that "Credit wisely used is a real help to the average family. But it can be dangerous, unless carefully handled. Here's what you should do to keep your family on a safe financial basis."

(1) Remember that you are going to have to pay for all the merchandise you buy. The ability to say, "Charge it, please," doesn't increase your income. In fact, it means less money to spend, until the obligation is paid off. Consider your future problems and don't overload yourself.

(2) Keep track of credit purchases. With several members of your family buying at different places, it's easy for bills to run up. Prepare a family credit control system, and make sure that the combined generous impulses of the family doesn't break the "family bank".

(3) Work out a budget system to pay bills as agreed. Credit is the average family's most precious possession. It can be used in time of need, but only if it is kept good all the time. Each time you pay promptly, you build a better credit record.

(4) Cooperate with busy credit offices. Give all the information they need to help you obtain credit promptly. Remember, most applications are checked through the credit bureau, and the more identifying information you give, the faster you may receive credit accommodations.

By following the simple rules listed above, consumers can be their own "watchdogs". They can enjoy the privileges of credit without having those first-of-the-year bill worries."

Optometrists Have Annual Election

Annual meeting of the Beaver Valley Optometrist society took place in the offices of Dr. Irving Bennett, Beaver Falls, with Dr. A. H. Borland of New Castle, retiring president, in charge and conducting the election of officers.

The following were named to officer: president, Dr. G. A. Castelli, Midland, Pa.; vice president, Dr. Milton Eger, Aliquippa, and secretary-treasurer, Dr. Charles B. Bisceglia, Ellwood City.

Big Don, 335 Lbs., Guards Post Well

GRESHAM, Ore.—(INS)—About nine square feet of any football field causes no worry to the Gresham High Gophers.

That's where their 335-pound (yes, 335) guard Don Johnson happens to be. A husky 200-pounder can't budge Big Don and he can easily hold a 140-pound player under each arm.

Coach Harry Thompson says his six-foot, two-inch Goliath is the strongest man he ever saw at 17. And the big boy isn't slow on his feet either.

Don is the son of a feed store man. He got his tremendous strength from tossing 100-pound sacks of feed. He doesn't juggle one, however. He handles two at a time.

Santa Claus Comes Early At Westminster

Santa Claus, as usual, arrived early at Westminster college. He came in answer to a petition of Freshmen girls since school will dismiss for the holidays Dec. 18. Holding out her stocking for candy and oranges is Virginia Rochl of New Brighton. The others, eagerly awaiting their turn, are, left to right, Lois Baum, New Castle; Mary Lou Hirchert, Cleveland, and Carol Keans, Westwood, N. J. Santa, played by husky Bill Conrad of Pittsburgh, a football star, had plenty of trouble with the narrow chimney at Browne Hall.

Alabamans Will See Farm Show

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(INS)—One hundred fifty Alabama farmers and businessmen will visit the state farm show for two days next month to inspect its lay-out and operation.

The state agriculture department said the visitors, scheduled to arrive in Harrisburg, January 12, will study the huge agriculture exhibit to obtain ideas for establishment of a similar type of exposition in Alabama, according to Secretary Miles Horst.

He explained that Alabama has provided $1,500,000 for erection of an arena and other buildings for livestock shows and industrial displays.

Says White House Considered Secret Code Vulnerable

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The White House considered the State Department's secret code "very vulnerable" as far back as 1941.

This was revealed today by Robert E. Sherwood, confidante of the late President Roosevelt, as federal authorities probed the theft for a Russian spy ring of secret data found cached on Whittaker Chambers' Maryland farm.

Sherwood, who wrote the recently published "Roosevelt and Hopkins: An Intimate History" said Harry Hopkins, the president's adviser, apparently was informed of the vulnerability of the code by government experts.

Sherwood said, however, he could not state definitely whether President Roosevelt knew the code had been broken.

(State Department officials admitted this week it was "probable" foreign governments broke the code and were able to read this country's secrets as a result of the theft of the Chambers documents.)

The author quoted Laurence Steinhardt, then ambassador to Russia, as telling him in 1941 that the code was "vulnerable."

Sherwood said Steinhardt told him navy communications should be used for all messages between Washington and the U. S. Embassy in Moscow.

The author made his revelations after receiving the award of the Saturday Review of Literature in New York for "the most significant and important book of the year."

YOU CAN'T IMAGINE A TRAILER IN YOUR CHRISTMAS STOCKING

Yet can you imagine a Christmas present more to the point for a man in the trucking business?

Christmas presents should be useful as well as sentimental. There isn't much sentiment about an American Bantam Supercargo or a Kingham trailer, but what they lack in sentiment they make up in utilitarian value.

But a trialer in a Christmas stocking!

Troop Strength At Strike-Bound Port Increased

PARIS, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The French government increased troop strength in the strike-bound port of Dunkerque today to 4,000 men.

The soldiers are North African troops who took up positions opposite striking dockers who barricaded themselves in preparation for a siege.

The Dunkerque longshoremen walked out in advance of a scheduled general strike by Communist-led longshoremen on Monday.

Uncertainty surrounds the attempt of the General Labor Confederation to seal off the French ports, however.

Longshoremen at Le Havre and Marseille voted against any strike action.

In addition, the secretary general of the confederation's longshoremen's union asked for a meeting with Premier Henri Queuille before Monday.

Moose Auxiliary Conducts Drill

To conduct initiation ceremonies for Youngstown, O., Lodge No. 17, 33 members of the New Castle Moose Lodge No. 8 auxiliary motored Wednesday evening to Youngstown.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Grittie, drill captain, initiatory work was put on in the Moose hall.

Speaker was Mrs. Viola Usselton of Warren, O., a graduate of the College of Regents.

Open initiation of candidates for the local lodge will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Pauline Springer in charge. Moose members will be guests and at 6 o'clock there will be a tureen dinner for the families.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Loretta Moore no later than this evening.

Pet Parrot Does Unusual Things

WAPELLA, Ill., (INS)—Joe's no dummy.

He's the pet parrot of Mrs. Ethel Woolen. The 11-year-old bird can sing, talk, count, spell names — even whistle.

During his affectionate moments Joe plants a kiss on his owner's cheek.

He's the demanding sort, too. Each morning Joe hollers, "Ethel —breakfast!" then climbs up and eats at the table with the rest of the family.

The chattering parrot can practically carry on a conversation and has a repertoire of four songs which he sings.

Joe's a vain little bird—he continually admires himself in the mirror, flaunting his tail behind him.

His favorite comment when he sees that everybody is going off, leaving him alone is: "I'm cold, just cold as ice."

Utah Now Features 'Cloud College'

SALT LAKE CITY—(INS)—The geology department at the University of Utah renewed its "cloud college" for the first time since before the war.

The "cloud college" is an aerial tour of central Utah in a chartered airliner. Students can now study geological formations from class room seats 1,100 feet high.

Each of the 400 students is given the tour, with 20 at a time making the 140-mile swing. Instructors go along to point out and explain formations and points of interest.

The terrain becomes a huge relief map for the "cloud college" students. A skyview of the topography reveals that the area once was covered by a lake much larger than the present Great Salt Lake.

The tour includes a view of the Bingham copper mine, the largest open pit copper mine in the world.

Bessemer Club Indoor Fair Set

Bessemer Woman's club is anticipating a large attendance at the indoor fair and entertainment planned for Saturday evening in the auditorium of Bessemer high school.

An informal program of entertainment will continue throughout the evening and there will be special features and booths of various kinds.

With New Castle Afro-Americans

Deacons of Union Baptist church will have a called meeting Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the church.

The South Side Prayer Band will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Blackwell, 224 Mahoning avenue, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Marie Maddox will preside.

POLICE CALLED TO AID GIRL TRYING TO CLIMB HILL

While ascending the right side embankment of Croton avenue, near Walnut street, which is very steep, a young girl apparently could not ascend any farther and was afraid of falling down the hill between noon and 1 p.m. today.

Her screams for help were heard and police were notified.

When a cruiser car with Policemen Tewell and Russo quickly reached the scene, the girl, in some manner, had managed to ascend the hill and run to her home in Walnut street.

Luminous moss is found growing in damp, gloomy caves and old cellars.

Scrap Steel From Germany Is Boon Pittsburgh Output

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10.—(INS)—Scrap steel from conquered Germany may either increase steel production or prevent a winter decline in the Pittsburgh district.

Scrap is a vital component for making top grade steel and recent shortages have forced some furnaces in the Pittsburgh area to operate below capacity.

Recently, however, the Homestead works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation received the first shipment of German scrap, and additional shipments are expected to take up the slack.

The corporation has clearance to import 200,000 tons at a rate of 40,000 tons per month. The steel is valued at $50 per ton when delivered in Pittsburgh.

Corporation officials said it was excellent scrap—the best they had seen in a long time. Most of the German metal consisted of heavy structural steel, railroad car and engine wheels, steel rails, broken machinery and other heavy material.

Such scrap is scarce in the United States because few big buildings and bridges are being torn down.

DIES AT 100

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Dec. 10.—(INS)—Funeral arrangements were being completed today for Mrs. Barbara Ellen Mapel, 100 years old, the oldest resident of Greene county.

Mrs. Mapel died Thursday night less than 200 yards from the site of the farmhouse in which she was born a century ago. She was a lifelong resident of Green county. She weighed only 80 pounds.

CHARGE ORDINANCE VIOLATION

Van R. Farley, David Gerson and I. Weinstein, all of Pittsburgh, were arrested by City Detectives John Moore and Thomas Lynch in Mahoning avenue yesterday for violating a city ordinance. It was reported they were selling brick siding without having received a city license. Each placed a cash bond of $50, for a police court hearing Monday.

One gallon of gasoline weighs about six pounds.

British Probe Takes Turn That Is Sensational

Parliamentary Secretary Announces Intention To Resign As Probe Gets Under Way

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(INS)—An investgation into alleged fraud at the British board of trade took a sensational turn when its parliamentary secretary announced his intention to resign.

The secretary is John W. Belcher, a central figure in the searching inquiry into alleged graft and corruption.

The British board of trade is equivalent to the U. S. Department of Commerce. All British ministries are represented in the House of Commons by a parliamentary secretary.

Courtroom Stunned

Aiken Matcham, Belcher's attorney, stunned the courtroom of presiding chairman Sir George J. Lynskey by announcing that the accused labor government official would leave office.

The lawyer said that Belcher "vehemently denies" having received money or any other consideration influencing him in any of his decisions as a cabinet minister.

He admitted, however, having received gifts of clothing, entertainment and paid-up hotel bills from Sidney Stanley, a financier and stock promoter whose close contacts with the board of trade and officials of the bank of England are under scrutiny.

Matcham said that Belcher also admits receiving presents from Sir Maurice Bloch, another financier whose name has figured in the long inquiry.

Bloch is managing director of a large British distillery concern.

The lawyer said that while Belcher did not receive these gifts corruptly nor let them influence him, he realizes they were incompatible with his position as a "minister of the crown."

French Experts Criticize Court War Trial Action

PARIS, Dec. 10—(INS)—France's top expert on international law criticized today the decision of the U. S. supreme court to intervene in the war crimes trials as a "terrible blow to the prestige and future of international law".

The jurist, Dr. Henri Donnedieu de Vabres, said the decision is also a blow at the United Nations resolution condemning genocide which was passed unanimously by the U. N. yesterday. He said:

"How can permanent internation jurisdiction exist if it can be appealed to a national tribunal.

Dr. De Vabres, a member of the Nuernberg tribunal which condemned Field Marshal Goering and other high Nazis to death, voiced his criticism on the heels of similar statements by Chinese and Dutch experts.

The Frenchman described himself as "astonished" by the U. S. supreme court decision. He added:

"No precedent exists for the review of the verdict of an international military tribunal by a national court."

Dr. De Vabres pointed out that under the statute on which the Nuernberg tribunal was based, no appeal could be made to a national court.

Sentence Two In Prison Break

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Two years of toil for three days of freedom cost two western penitentiary prisoners two to four more years of confinement behind prison walls.

The men, Andrew L. White, 27, and Eugene West, 28, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of prison breach on Nov. 1.

The pair had spent two years digging a tunnel under a western penitentiary wall. But they were rounded up by police three days after their "break".

Gets Her Freedom

NOTED writer Kathleen Winsor is shown at the Reno, Nev., airport after obtaining a divorce from band leader Artie Shaw, whom she married in 1946 in Juarez, Mexico. The grounds were extreme mental cruelty. Terms of the couple's previous property settlement were not revealed. (International)

Will Continue Export Licenses To Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A State Department spokesman asserted today that the United States will continue to issue licenses for export of American goods to Yugoslavia, on the basis of merit in each case.

This statement was made in response to questions about Belgrade dispatches saying the U. S. was reexamining the Yugoslav trade situation with a view to expanding it.

Michael J. McDermott, the spokesman, said the situation is unchanged; that the U. S. has been granting licenses for non-strategic goods all along and will continue to do so. He said:

"The policy of the United States with respect to increasing world trade is well-known. Yugoslavia is a part of the picture. In line with that policy, the United States is interested in developing a sound trade with Yugoslavia as well as with other countries."

Last week, Yugoslavi Ambassador Sava N. Kosanovic called on Acting Secretary of State Lovett to complain that the flow of American goods into his country had dropped from $60,000,000 last year to a rate of one million dollars monthly in 1948.

POLICE TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Police annually erect a small Christmas tree in the police courtroom of the city building. One will be erected this Christmas season, according to Police Chief Robert D. Hanna. City Electrician Rex Hughes will install colored lights, which are kept from year to year.

When cameos were the favorite type of jewelry, in the 19th century, the art of photography was in its infancy, so a well-cut cameo portrait of a loved one was therefore a joy to its possessor.

Princess' Son To Be Christened On Next Wednesday

LONDON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Buckingham palace announced today that the christening of Princess Elizabeth's son will take next Wednesday, Dec. 15.

A royal announcement said the christening will occur in Buckingham palace.

The announcement came as the London Evening Standard brought into print mounting speculation over the baby, stemming from the fact that no pictures have been allowed of the infant prince.

It was reported that King George's illness made the royal family decide to hold the christening in Buckingham palace.

Otherwise, it was understood, the infant prince would have been christened at St. Mary of Magdalene church in Shandringham.

The private chapel in Buckingham palace, scene of many royal christenings ineluding that of Elizabeth, is reported still usuable, however, since it was wrecked during the German wartime raids on Britain.

In the state of Louisiana, typhus fever, one of the diseases carried by rats, was reduced from 560 cases in 1945 to 261 a year later, through rat control.

SPRAY OR DUST CATTLE TO RID THEM OF LICE

Cattle properly sprayed or dusted will go through the winter free from lice, and in better condition. Spray them with DDT on a warm, sunny day.

Mix one pound of the 50 per cent DDT wetable powder in 10 gallons of water and spray about a gallon of it on each animal.

A 10 per cent DDT dust or a 4 or 5 per cent rotenone dust mixed with three parts of wetable sulphur, also is satisfactory if sprinkled along the back sides of the animal and rubbed into the hair with a stiff brush. Dust heavily around the base of the tail and rear of the udder. One pound of dust should treat five to six grown cattle. The dusts are preferred if there is danger of the animals becoming ill from getting wet.

Further information on treating cattle for lice may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Association, 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

PRICE REDUCTIONS OFTEN LOST EN ROUTE TO BUYER

Declines in prices paid farmers for their produce are not always reflected, at least not immediately, as market situation regarding some fresh vegetables has shown.

Vegetable growers had difficulty through most of the 1948 season in selling their crops, but city consumers were not generally aware of the plentiful supply of vegetables and of the lower prices paid to growers.

Vegetable growers do not receive government support prices and must market for whatever price they can get. Acres of cabbage were not harvested in Pennsylvania because of the low market price. When farm prices decline the retailer has goods in stock which he bought at higher prices. Markdowns generally are delayed as a natural way to avoid loss. He also has goods on hand bought at the lower prices when farm goods rise in price. When this happens immediate mark-up is a way for increasing profits.

The farmer gets about 50 cents out of the average dollar a consumer pays at retail for food. Thus, if he gave away all of his produce food costs could drop only 50 per cent for the city consumer.

People's Court In Hungary Imposes Death Sentence

BUDAPEST, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A Budapest peoples' court decreed a death sentence for Prof. Simon Papp, general manager of the Hungarian-American Oil Corp., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Two other defendants received prison terms and a fourth was acquitted.

The four men—all Hungarian citizens—had been charged by the Communist government with sabotage oil production at the behest of American officials of the company.

RELIEF ROLLS RISE

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania's general assistance rolls increased by 399 persons (204 cases) during the week ending November 20. This was the fifth consecutive weekly increase since the downward trend was halted in late October. As a result of the week's increase, the number of general assistance recipients now totals 40,285 persons, or approximately 1,500 more than when the year's low point was reached five weeks ago. However, the rolls are still nearly 10 per cent below the level of the corresponding week in 1947.

Bald eagles always have abounded in the neighborhood of Niagara Falls, N. Y., because of the constant supply of fish found there, killed by going over the falls or being caught in the whirlpools below. These eagles usually pick fish dead or dying, from the surface of the shore, instead of catching them alive.

Some 260,000 men were permanently disabled as a result of combat injuries during the war—and 1,250,000 civilians were permanently disabled in the same period.

Senator Dent Seeks Battle

Takes On Formidable Opponent In Challenging Policies Of Governor Duff

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent of Jeannette took on a formidable opponent when he broke out in a political rash and challenged Gov. James H. Duff's "liberal policies". The chips will be down during the session when Dent probably will follow the custom of many another legislator and call upon the governor to urge his support of some bit of legislation sponsored by the minority. Dent challenged the governor after a meeting with state CIO leaders and several colleagues recalled that the senator was formerly a CIO organizer. Dent is on record with personal praise of the governor and his remarks were the first criticism to be directed at Duff as legislators marked time before the opening of the 1949 session of the General Assembly.

State Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D) Allegheny, is preparing to submit amendments if Governor Duff's anticipated recommendation for establishment of a state authority to finance public improvements does not cover medical institutions. Holland sponsored a state authority bill during 1947 session of the legislature but it died in committee. The original general state authority was set up by Democrats in 1935, declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court and then given a clean bill of health by the appellate body in 1937. It merely allows the commonwealth to raise immediate funds for specific purposes and then to spread repayment of the debt over a long period. The GSA was lapsed in 1945 on the recommendation of Governor Martin over the objections of Democrats.

State Highways Secretary Ray Smock has compiled a report showing the cost of state highway construction, maintenance and subsidies to local governments over a 17-year period ended last May has reached $1,039,294,000. Smock's report revealed the following distribution of funds: Main highway system, $424,705,000; rural highway system, $340,240,000; state highways in cities, $29,357,000; boroughs, $59,081,000; second class township, $63,624,000; cities, borough and first class townships, $9,713,000; floods, $182,000. Return of one-half a cent of the state gas tax during the period, Smock added, amounted to $112,392,000. He said the report belied the accusation that the department favored urban interests over rural interests and vice versa.

The joint state government commission has virtually completed the tasks assigned by the General Assembly in 1947 and the result is imposing. Twenty-two special subcommittees were named to study specific subjects ranging from alcoholism to taxes and libraries to decedents' estates. The study agency was headed in the interim between sessions by State Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn of Concordville, who is auditor general-elect. If precedent is followed, the chairmanship will pass back to the house this session and its head will be the speaker of the house.

Around Hollywood

By ROLAND HAYES
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10. — A world-famous composer charged today that America's teen-agers are turning into a race of emotionally unbalanced and nervous neurotics.

He blames it all on some radio programs the bobby-soxers wrap their ears around. And he thinks television will make the situation worse unless something is done about it.

Dmitri Tiomkin, one of movietown's foremost composers today laid these charges before the American Music Conference, an education association of music dealers and manufacturers with headquarters in Chicago.

Ban Horror Shows

Tiomkin said he hopes the AMC will be able to ratify some horrific radio shows which practically every kid in the country listens to every p. m.

He shook his head and declared:

"Listening to these awful programs has become a ritual which is shaping the thinking of our teen-agers. It is very bad.

"The impressionistic minds of these youngsters are filled with lurid tales of gangsters, red-hot lovers, gunmen, murderers, and above all, misfits who blame society for their failures."

Exciting Music

So we asked Tiomkin what he proposes to substitute. He replied:

"Exciting music! Music accompanied by words that will develop mental and emotional balance."

Tiomkin, who won an academy award a few semesters ago via his musical score for "Lost Horison," was figured out a six-point program to correct what he calls the present weird situation.

He admitted television is not yet guilty but "may really bring about a crisis because it is certain to follow the groove successfully patterned by radio." He asked:

"Can't you imagine what will happen to the kids they see, instead of simply hear, these lurid radio stories of murder, ellicit love and general corruption?"

Offers Suggestions

His six-point corrective plan includes these suggestions:

1. Good teen-age records played by recognized hot bands like Benny Goodman and Harry James.
2. Nice kid musical records instead of sensational comic books for the little tykes' leisure hours.
3. More kid public musical recitals.
4. A chance for every kid to learn to play some musical instrument during school hours on the same basis as other subjects.
5. Music appreciation included in every child's schooling in every grade.

Fewer Mental Cases

"You'll have fewer mental cases, I'll guarantee that," said Tiomkin, who currently is using debussy tunes for Selznick's "Portrait of Jenny."

"Music is the greatest civilizing force for developing sound personalities. Music will educate our children to live balanced and happy lives!"

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER

"MOLDY FEET"

Sore feet seem to be pretty common where shoes are worn.

Molds seem to grow pretty well in a dark damp warm place like the inside of a shoe.

These molds ask like a poison to the skin of the feet. They act something like poison ivy sometimes.

Usually the trouble starts between the toes. Some people seem to be more susceptible to it than others.

Open toed shoes are a gretty good preventive. They allow a little air to get to the toes and keep them dry.

Frequent change of stockings seem to help. If the feet can be kept dry they usually do better.

Frequent washing, careful drying and plenty of powder seem to do some good.

Woman Captures Chicago Robber

John L. (Jiggs) Sullivan, the suspect, waived extradition in Newark yesterday and was turned over to two Chicago detectives.

Police said Sullivan is the last suspect to be caught in the robbery of the E. H. Rumbolt Realty company on January 19, 1945.

Man In Iron Lung Plays In Bridge Games

By JEAN BUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 10.—Fred Snite Jr., "The man in the iron lung," says he'd rather play bridge than eat, even though he can't use his hands or move his head.

And Snite is a good bridge player, too.

That's the verdict of some of the world's finest players.

Snite is competing in the American Contract Bridge league's winter tournament in Miami Beach. The men and women who take part in this annual shuffling and dealing take their game very, very seriously. They judge competitions on merit alone.

The 38-year-old infantile paralysis victim has competed in the winter tourney for the past two years. He has not yet won a title, but that is unimportant to him.

Bridge Is Hobby

Leonard Hawkins, Snite's "manager," explained that bridge is a hobby with the young man who must spend all but about three hours of every day encased in a 700-pound life-giving iron lung.

Snite, of course, does not hold his own cards. One of his three nurses or his pretty young wife, Teresa, takes care of that duty. He instructs them on which cards to play.

Snite's lung is rolled up on one side of the card table. His nurse adjusts his glasses and the game begins. He watches the table from the mirror above the lung. When his turn comes, Snite clearly instructs just what cards he wants played.

A few moment's observation of his playing proves that his mind is as quick as any other player. His eyes dart about the table, watching the others.

Hawkins said he thinks Snite gets "such a big kick out of bridge mainly because he can compete with unhandicapped persons on an equal basis."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

IN THE OPEN

Not even the tiniest wisp of a breeze disturbed the brooding quiet of the timberland. The tall oaks and the clean-limbed beeches stood coldly aloof in the gray December afternoon, wrapped in dignified grandeur as they calmly awaited the midnight of another year. An air of hushed expectancy hung over the countryside, as though everything was in readiness for the mystic moonlit rites of the ancient Druid trees worshippers.

The overcast had so dampened the leaf mulch underfoot that I came blundering along as quietly as any stealthy redskin who had prowled that way in years gone by. The stillness was so complete that I could hear quite plainly the wing beats of a pair of crows who came over perhaps two hundred feet up to check on my intentions.

Well Defined Trail

I followed a well defined trail through the woods. Since there are no sheep nor cattle in this area I was probably on the main through route of the B'rer Fox roadways. A gray squirrel halted his foraging as I approached and fled to the safety of a monster sugar maple. Somewhere back in the trees another bushy tail read off my pedigree in no uncertain terms.

Down through the center of this timberland is a great ugly scar left by engineers pushing through a cross-country pipe-line. The common giant mullein has found this right-of-way to its liking and has laid down dozens of velvet-leafed rosettes in preparation for the familiar tall yellow flower spikes next Summer. I picked up a seven inch feather along this cut. It was brown, with white bar markings, and had probably been cast by one of the bigger hawks while crusing above the area.

Stretch of Wild Crabapple

To reach a farm corner of this timber I made a hillside traverse through a stretch of hawthorne and wild crabapple. Hanging well up on a thorn bush was a gray hornet's nest which had been so sculptured by the elements as to resemble almost exactly a grinning, toothless skull. When the big cat owl screams at midnight and the cold moon lights up that paper skull I don't want to be anywhere near that lonesome hillside.

As I examined the hornets' paper house a long-legged grasshopper splatted to a landing in the leaves underfoot. He seemed quite active, despite the fact that the calendar was heading into the second week of December. Chickweed was still forcing a hardy blossom or two in the sheltered nook and I saw a bright yellow dandelion on the lawn at home while doing the morning chores.

Move Along Ridge

I moved along the upper edge of a rocky ridge which stretches across an opening in the trees. This area has grown into a thick covert, mostly sumac and wild cherry, which is haunted by many birds. When I stopped for a breather a pair of sparrows suddenly flew up from their feeding, and one of them stopped long enough for me to pick out the throat detail and other field markings of the immature white-throated sparrow.

There are many interesting groups of trees in this woodland. One hillside harbors a colony of large-toothed aspen and the American hornbean has made itself at home in the moist areas. I am partial to the tall tulip poplar, with its trunk rising straight and clean through the undergrowth. The empty fruit cases, which have dispersed the seeds, now stand upright all over the trees like candle holders ready to light up the forests during the Christmas season.

December Out of Character

So far December has been largely out of character. I took advantage of a recent sunny afternoon to clean up some overdue outside tasks. The thermometer on the back porch soared to the high 50s and the songsparrows sang gloriously in the fence rows behind the house as I hustled around. The sun-warmed southern side of the house roused a dozen or so big burly flies, who sunned themselves and zoomed about in miniature dog fights as though it were mid-July.

Even the wise little lady bird beetles became so bemused with the warmth as to leave their snug apartments in the window jambs and wander about aimlessly on the panes. A half comatose wasp still had enough life in him to take a nasty poke at my finger when I disturbed him in his retreat beneith a seed flat. On the fog-drenched sidewalks a few misguided night-crawlers slithered about, evidently mistaking the warm rains for the siren call of April showers.

The distaff side of my family regards this "treacherous" December mildness with ill-concealed disfavor and hunts out the home supply of cold remedies. I wonder what's making me sneeze so much?

Austrian Woman Soviet Prisoner

VIENNA, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Informed quarters said today that Margaret Ottilinger, Austrian Marshall plan expert, has been sent to a Soviet zone prison to serve a 20-year term for espionage.

The woman disappeared in Vienna several weeks ago and the Soviets, who were reported to have kidnaped her, refused to divulge any information concerning her whereabouts.

Reliable Austrian sources said that she is currently at the Soviet civilian prison camp at Sopron, near the Hungarian border.

Criminal Court Week Cancelled

District Attorney Donaldson Asks Cancellation Due To Lack Of Cases

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Taxpayers of the county get a Christmas gift today in the form of a cancellation of the criminal court scheduled for next week.

Due to lack of cases, District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson filed a motion to cancel the term. One or two minor cases may be held over for the March term.

Originally there were 98 criminal cases brought. Pleas of guilty or nollo contendere kept reducing the list and the grand jury had but about 12 cases to consider. Since the grand jury meeting, there have been more pleas.

By Monday morning there may be one or possibly two cases left and these are minor. District Attorney Donaldson believes it is poor business to call a panel of jurors to try a case of assault and battery. The county will save over $800 by cancelling the term.

"PAINT THE COURT HOUSE"

The grand jury which met earlier this week apparently thinks the court house needs painting. The jury recommended the building be given a coat of paint and also recommended that the Early property be held for a juvenile and detention home.

Italian Warship Sails For Russia

TARANTO, Italy, Dec. 10—(INS)—The first Italian warship transferred to Russia under the Italian peace treaty steamed out of Taranto harbor Thursday.

The port city's entire population lined the docks to wave goodbye to the 23,000-ton battleship, Giulio Cesare.

Many of the onlookers were in tears, and Italian warships in the port flew their flags at half-mast, to indicate mourning for the nation's fleet.

The name "Giulio Cesare" was obliterated from the vessel. In its place appeared the designation "Zeta Eleven".

Czech Consul Seeks American Protection

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Czechoslovakian Consul Zdenek Smetacek of New York, who resigned in protest over Soviet pressure, appealed to the U. S. State Department for protection and "asylum as a Democratic political exile."

The latest satellite-nation official to flee from Soviet terror, Smetacek, from his Long Island home, also asked protection for his wife Milada, their two children, and his mother-in-law.

"There is no more hope," he declared, "that the present Prague regime will go back to representation and respect of the natural interests of my nation."

Trend Is To Toys That Will Do Actual Work

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Santa Claus is going to bring a lot of hard work for the nation's small fry this year.

An International News Service survey of toy manufacturers indicates that there is a definite trend this year to toys that do actual work.

One manufacturer said it was a postwar development—a sort of turning away from toy "death-dealing" weapons. There still is some emphasis on atomic toys.

But the days of being mowed down by crossing the imaginary line of fire of warring cowboys and Indians is diminishing, although it's still possible to be picked off by a diehard old two-gun small fry.

Like To Emulate Parents

The toy makers, with an assist from psychologists, said they have discovered that toys the kids like best are those that enable them to emulate Mama and Papa.

One of the latest things for little girls, for instance, is an electric vacuum cleaner, complete with a real electric motor. The "toy" makes it possible for little girls to help mother give the rugs a once over—lightly.

The boys haven't been forgotten, either. One thoughful firm has rigged up an electric razor—just like the one Daddy has.

It is made of plastic, has a clock-spring motor and has harmless plastic blades which move back and forth over the face.

Toy makers have thought up a great many other devices to keep junior distracted and exhausted and give pop plenty of time to fiddle with that electric train.

Toy Steam Shovel

There is a toy steam shovel, complete with motor, that will pick up sand, dirt or valuables vases and dump them anywhere.

For the more ambitious and stronger boys, new scale model road graders—equipped with balloon tires, a steering wheel and a bulldozer type scraper are available.

This is just the thing for tired fathers who have ruts in the driveway of the old homestead. It is guaranteed to keep Junior away from the electric train for hours—if not weeks.

Of course, if the kid gets loose among the rose bushes with this contraption, that's another matter.

For fathers who are kept on the jump by the eccentricities of the family bus, there are a whole variety of appropriate Christmas gifts for junior. These include toy gas stations complete with air hoses, grease racks, gas pumps and car washers.

Psychologists say that, in general, toys for younger children—too young to work—should be colorful, large and sturdy. With no small parts or sharp edges.

Older children, however, like practical toys which give them a sense of belonging to the household by allowing them to do chores mother and dad do.

Request Delinquents Pay Personal Tax

City Treasurer Bernard N. Hanlon has forwarded hundreds of letters, containing a statement, showing that 1948 occupational taxes are overdue, and payment is expected.

Most of Ecuador's rivers are interrupted by rapids and so are navigable for only short distances.

Parking Meter Receipts May Be Little Less

Parking receipts this year may fall below the amount collected from motorists last year, according to City Controller W. A. Moore, who stated today that collections from meters during 1947, amounted to $38,234.50. Arthur Harris, meter money collector reported that up to December 3, collections this year, totalled $35,942.50. The council is forming the 1948 budget anticipated receipts would amount to $40,000. One of the reasons for the expected shortage was due to the removal of some meters in Croton avenue. The city now operates 423 parking meters.

Handicraft Club At Y.M.C.A. Makes Christmas Gifts

Making Christmas gifts for their mothers or fathers is the objective of the more than 35 boys who regularly attended the Handicraft Club at the YMCA.

The organization this year seems to be more popular than ever before and the normally busy school boys somehow are finding time to attend meetings on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week.

This is the first year that the gifts have been made exclusively of leather goods. Under the direction of John Thompson, boys' work director, the young lads are making billfolds, belts, pocketbooks, and coin purses. Excellent workmanship is being put into some of the gifts and others will be made over two or three times before they are satisfactory.

All of the presents will wind up under a decorated tree on Christmas morning and will make some proud parent or friends very happy.

Wants Secrecy Removed From A-Bomb Stock

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. — A high-ranking Senate Democrat plans to demand in the new congress that the government tear the veil of secrecy from its atomic bomb stockpile and the rate of a-bomb production.

The Senator, a key administration supporter, indicated privately today that he also will call for a foreign policy based frankly on the assumption that eventual war with Russia is inevitable.

He also expects to ask for a general overhauling of the defense program, he declared that "we are getting 95 per cent prepared for war, and 90 per cent of it will be useless."

Would Disclose Facts

The Senator wants to disclose the extent of the nation's a-bomb stockpile "just as we tell how many airplane carriers we've got." He declared that the Kremlin "doubtless" knows at least approximately how many a-bombs are available and how fast they can be produced.

He asserted that the present policy only conceals U. S. strength from the American people and their friends abroad. He declared also that the present procedure, in which even Congressional committees are not told what they are getting for the money they appropriate, is "a police-state procedure."

The Senator asserted that adisclosure of the size of the a-bomb stockpile would not imperil the secrecy of the techniques of making the bomb or producing fissionable material.

DON'T PARK IN ALLEYS

Owing to Christmas shopping season traffic has become exceedingly heavy, hence many persons are paying fines for parking violations. Alleys are being watched closely, and motorists who park therein are given tickets, calling for fines. Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna has insisted that alleys be kept free of parkers due to the possibility that fire equipment may be required to use the alleys to extiguish possible conflagrations.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A couple of centuries ago, England's poets and essayists kept body and soul together by persuading wealthy patrons, or groups of patrons, to subscribe to forthcoming volumes in advance. The publishers thus were guaranteed against loss—a practice that many a publisher today looks back to with nostalgic longing.

A minor hack named Hefferman joined 20 other guests for dinner at Lord Foote's, and drew forth proposals for a new translation of Horace. The subcription price was two guineas, half to be paid in advance, half on delivery of the book. Lord Foote and his friends reluctantly planked down a guinea apiece, but as Hefferman was pocketing the plunder, Foote declared sharply, "Hefferman, this is about the thirty-fifth time I have subscribed to your Horace, but for heaven's sake never think of printing it. It is hardship enough to be obliged to throw away a guinea, but the further punishment of reading your vile translation would be intolerable."

There being no record of any translation of Horace by a man named Hefferman, it is probably safe to assume that the gentleman took Lord Foote's advice.

Soviet Russia Demands U. S. Abolish Klan

By JOSEPH L. RANFT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Dec. 10.—Soviet Russia demanded that the U. S. be forced to abolish the Ku Klux Klan today as part of an international convention outlawing genocide—the extermination of a people.

White Russian Delegate Kuzma Kisselev told the United Nations: "The U. S. shows an amazing tolerance of such organizations (as the Ku Klux Klan.) Governments should not allow organizations to exist whose teachings may result in genocide."

Kisselev spoke in support of a Soviet amendment which would extend the proposed convention outlawing genocide to outlaw even the organized preaching of racial or religious hatred. He argued that genocide is merely such teaching "in action."

But U. S. Delegate Ernest Gross rebuked the Russian bloc for proposing amendments which actually pull the teeth of the proposed convention by raising the bogey of "national sovereignty."

Charge Teachers' New York Union Follows Red Line

WAS HINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A House labor committee charged today that a New York teachers' local "follow the Communist party line" and urged a full probe of all Teachers' Union associated with the CIO-United Public Workers.

In an interim report, a three-man group headed by Rep. McConnell (R) Pa., criticized the leadership of Teachers' Union Local 555 of the UPWA. They asserted that "there are indications of Communist activity" in the labor organization.

The report said the investigation has "just scratched the surface" and recommended that funds be appropriated in the next congress for a full-scale probe. The committee conducted an investigation in New York and Washington in September and October.

City Building Sale Conferences Held

Although nothing has been said of the matter by city officials, it is understood they have been in conference with several persons regarding the sale of the present city building at Washington and East streets. The city advertised the structure for sale several times, but received no bids.

However, it is reported that several conferences concerning the sale of the building have been held, with no definite results as yet.

City To Ask Bids For Aerial Ladder

Safety Director Richard I. Davis announced that within the near future he will request council to ask advertisements for a new fire aerial ladder truck. The truck must have 80-foot ladders, Mr. Davis stated. One firm with which he was in communication is not accepting any orders, while another requires 10 months delivery for aerial ladder trucks. No doubt the bids will be asked in January.

Famed Medical Center To Launch Its Fiftieth Year

Leader In Medicine And Public Health To Take Part In Week-End Program

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 10. — Leaders in medicine and public health from several foreign countries will join with American colleagues in ceremonies here this Sunday marking the beginning of the fiftieth year of the National Jewish Hospital at Denver.

The United Nations World Health Organization is sending Dr. Frank A. Calderone, its director of American Services, to be the principal speaker. With him will be representatives of China, Korea and other countries who have been assigned by the United Nations to study methods of tuberculosis treatment and control at the National Jewish Hospital as part of a world-wide movement to eradicate this disease.

American medicine is being represented on this occasion by Dr. Florence Sabin, 77-year old research physician who was the first woman to serve on the staffs of the Rockefeller Institute and John Hopkins University School of Medicine. In recent years, Dr. Sabin has concentrated on improving health services. With her on the program will be Governor Lee Knous of Colorado and other public officials.

The hospital was opened on December 10, 1899. From an initial capacity of 65 patients the institution has grown to a point where it now treats nearly 1,000 men, women and children each year. Patients represent all creeds and every section of the U. S. Although founded and administered by Jewish groups, and largely supported by them, the National Jewish Hospital is non-sectarian in service. The first patient admitted was a young Catholic girl, and a large proportion of the present patient population is Protestant and Catholic.

The program of the hospital has developed in four directions. Medical and surgical treatment is free to all patients in accordance with the motto: "None May Enter Who Can Pay—None Can Pay Who Enter". Rehabilitation services prepare patients for economic independence through trade and academic education while in the institution. A research department works toward discovery of basic information which will help eradicate tuberculosis, and has received medals and awards from the nation's leading scientific societies. Professional education at the hospital trains physicians, medical and nursing students, occupational therapists and social workers from twelve colleges and universities. To date the U.N. World Health Organization has sent doctors from India, Cuba, South Africa, England, France, China and Korea under its program of international education.

Recognition of the hospital's work has been widespread. Among these serving on its National Board of Sponsors are Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Professor Albert Einstein, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, George C. Marshall and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

'Off Limits' Rule For Six Night Clubs In Boston

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The armed services' quietly efficient discipline of establishments patronized by service personnel hit the national spotlight today with six Boston night clubs ruled "off limits."

The Boston spots were barred to all service personnel—Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard—by the First Army Regional Joint Disicplinary Control Board.

Such boards exist in each of the six army areas in the United States. They have placed numerous night clubs, restaurants and other establishments "off limits" in two years of operation but the Boston cases drew national attention to the program for the first time.

There is no point in Bannock county, Idaho, lower than 4,200 feet.

'Polite' Bandit Being Hunted In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police, who usually have heard and seen most everything in the crime line, were looking today for a "polite", well-dressed bandit who pulled a novelty holdup yesterday.

The youth took $150 and the family car from a Mt. Lebanon physician's wife using a ruse to enter her home.

The woman, Mrs. Harold W. Rushbridge, told police that a polite young man sought directions from her as she was unloading groceries from her car. Then, he asked if he could use her phone.

Inside, the smiling bandit pulled a gun and forced Mrs. Rushbridge and her maid into the cellar. He drove off in the car after tieing the pair to the cellar pipes.

Drivers In England Use Strange Lingo

DETROIT—(INS)—Planning to take a motor trip in England?

The Automobile Manufacturers Association suggests you brush up on some new automotive lingo or else you may be completely confused.

For instance, a car horn is a tooter over in London and the windshield is a windscreen.

You don't have a tire blow-out. In England you have a "burst".

The trunk is the luggage boot, the car hood is a bonnet and the car transmission is a gearbox.

When you race the engine, you "rev up," and the driver does not "step on the gas". He just "hits up". However, don't be too upset. The English agree the four-wheeled vehicle still is an auto.

Conn Has Long Hard Road To Climb Before Getting Another Title Bid

By SY FRIEDMAN
International News Service
Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—There is a long road back to fame and fortune that Billy Conn must travel before he can hope to take a third crack at Joe Louis for the world's heavyweight crown.

But Conn insisted today that he will go uphill all the way and coast into a title match with the champion.

He embarked upon that long road recently as he opened drills for a six round, no-decision contest with Louis December 10 in Chicago.

Wants Good Match

In between preliminary drills in ringside gym he puffed:

"If I make a good showing against Louis, I want to meet the winner of the Joe Baksi-Ezzard Charles match."

Baksi and Charles meet in New York the same night as Conn mixes it up with Louis in the windy city.

Conn, twice defeated by the champion, figures he can beat either Charles or Baksi.

And then, he says:

"If I do, I should be in a position to fight Louis again for the title."

Weighs 188 Now

Conn now weighs 188 pounds, six more than at the time of his last fight with Louis.

The Pittsburgh boxer looked impressive in his first sparring workout since his ninth-round knockout over Jackie Lyons of Oklahoma City in Dallas a week ago.

Conn mentioned no prospective date for his proposed match with Charles or Baksi, but it naturally would have to be before next June when Louis is committed to make the 26th defense of his crown for Promoter Mike Jacobs.

The Pittsburgh boxer skipped rope while recounting his last two meetings with Louis:

"I gave him the toughest fight he ever had in our first contest. But I had a bad night the second time."

The Walker cup golf matches between the United States and Great Britain will be played at Mamaroneck, N. Y., next Aug. 19-20.

Ezzard Charles Gets Big Chance Against Baksi

By BILL CORUM
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—While a couple of gents named Joe Louis and Billy Conn are swinging away at each other in an exhibition in Chicago, Ezzard Charles and Joe Baksi will be meeting in New York tonight in what the promoter temptingly calls, "a chance at the heavyweight title".

Odd. Very odd. So odd that you may be sure nothing like it ever has happened in boxing before.

During the past week a character out of Pittsburgh named Jacob Mintz has been going around New York town practically claiming the heavyweight title for his "Tiger" from the hills of Cincinnati, Charles.

Chances are that the above-mentioned Louis still will have a wee, small word to say about that when the time comes. Yet there is no denying that it was this same Louis who made Charles and Baksi what they are tonight.

It was Louis who called Charles the most likely looking successor to his crown. Since the careful and tactful Brown Bomber has so often been right in the past, it may turn out that he is right again.

Still, I must feel that Ezzard, who doesn't lack for gizzard, has posed quite a hazard for himself in the person of the ponderous Baksi.

Joseph, a slightly muscle bound breaker boy out of the coal mines around Kulpmont, Pa., may not be as soft a touch as Mintz has been trying to lead his listeners to believe.

Joe is a real heavyweight and Charles a light heavyweight, the difference between them this evening will be around 30 pounds, which can be quite a difference in any fight.

Yet, in the sense of Charles becoming a reasonably attractive opponent for Louis next spring, it is an eminently fair test. Because the handicap is about the same the highly-touted Cincinnatian would have to carry into the pit against the aging Joe.

Laundry Drivers In Pittsburgh To Strike On Monday

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Nearly 250 laundry drivers were not "picking up" in the Pittsburgh area today. They told customers their laundry "might not get back for a long time".

The drivers, members of local 249, AFL, broke off negotiations with the major laundries in the city and county because of difficulties on a new contract. Eleven plants of eight major companies that supply 90 per cent of local service are included.

The walkout is slated for Monday morning.

Company and union representatives have been unable to agree on union demands for a five-day week and a seven per cent increase in drivers' pay percentage.

Pfc. Rose, who is with the occupation forces, has been in Japan for almost two years. He extended Christmas greetings to his many friends and stated that he would be home next summer. Along with the presents, he sent home his Army of Occupation medal.

New Castle High Plays Youngstown East Here Tonight

'Canes Seek Third Straight Victory

Victorious in their first two outings this year, against Akron Kenmore and Ursuline, the New Castle High "Red Hurricane" basketball team will take on the strong Youngstown East quintet at the Washington gym tonight.

The preliminary game featuring the reserves of both schools will start at 7 o'clock, it was announced by Faculty Manager Robert Mills.

Indications point to a packed house as East and the 'Canes tangle. The crowd will no doubt tax the capacity of the inadequate Junior High gym. Over 600 saw the opening game with Akron.

Use Same Lineup

Coach "Pappy" Thomas will start the same lineup that faced Akron and Ursuline, with Don Piccirillo, and Dick Lewis at the forwards, Don Reed at center, and Tony Cialella and Phil Conti at the guards. This group has clicked very nicely in the first two encounters.

New Castle will have an advantage over East, inasmuch as this is the opening game for the Coach Pete Koma five. East will have but two regulars from last year on hand—Bob Wayland, a center, and Jerry Lawman, a guard. Three others who won letters last year but were not regulars are John Santillo, Bill Dellick and Louis Cannatti, almost certain starters tonight.

At Butler Tuesday

Don Reed will be a marked man tonight, having flipped in 41 points in the first two games. Coach Thomas has built a swell offensive attack centering around this popular East Sider, who is a dead-shot from any angle.

New Castle will be away next Thursday, meeting Butler at Butler, but will return to Washington gym next Friday to meet Meadville High. Then follow games with Homestead and Duquesne at home.

DEER HUNTERS PAY HEAVY FINES

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 10.—(INS)—Westmoreland county reported today that fines totaling more than $5,000 were paid by over a hundred hunters the first week of deer season.

The district game supervisor said the principal violation was the use of resident licenses by out of state hunters, which is punishable by $50 fines.

Dukes To Play Wake Forest

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A veteran Duquesne quintet, whose court play consistently has been Pittsburgh's lone claim to fame in basketball circles, is set for a lusty debut against Wake Forest at the Gardens in Pittsburgh next Monday.

As usual the kids from the Bluff aren't ducking the toughies. Coach Donald W. (Dudey) Moore, who is replacing the veteran Chick Davies, has the gangling Bluffites prepared for 12 games at the Gardens and 10 on the road.

Some of the top opponents are Nebraska, Arizona, Long Island, Bowling Green, Loyola of Chicago and Yale.

Titans Romp Over Millersville Teachers 59 To 40

RUN STRING OF HOME VICTORIES TO FIFTY MARK

Clyde Shaffer, Rich Paul, And John Abraham Lead Westminster Scorers

Westminster College cagers won their fiftieth consecutive home game last night, by easily defeating Millersville State Teachers, 59 to 40. The final score does not begin to tell of the ease with which the Titans hung up their second win of the season.

Westminster's regulars played the first quarter, and were leading 31 to 14, with three minutes to play in the half, when Coach Washabaugh started sending in substitutes. The first team never returned to the game and the second and third stringers had little difficulty controlling the outcome.

Clyde Shaffer of New Wilmington was the game's leading scorer. Shaffer connected on 6 out of 7 free throws and looped in 3 field goals to gather 12 points.

Titans Spotty

The Titans started slow and not only had difficulty making shots from the field but also had slippery fingers and some inaccurate passing. The Millers, however, helped the Blue and White cause by fouling and Westminster was leading 8 to 6 with three minutes of play elapsed when Chet Dembinski got the Titans' first field goal.

Despite the Titans' spotty play in the second period, Millersville was no match, and the score continued to go against them when Washabaugh sent in the subs. The teachers from "down east" had lost an 11-point decision to Geneva the night before, and certianly didn't display any of the spark that enabled them to defeat Westminster at Millersville last year.

Blackout Loss

Westminster made 23 out of 33 free throws. This is a respectable average a represents a great improvement over the foul line showing in the Kent State game on Tuesday.

The Titans have not lost a game on their home floor since the famous 1942 blackout contest with Duquesne. In that game Westminster was leading late in the last quarter of a close contest when a practice blackout occurred. After the blackout, the Dukes rallied to ekt out a close win.

WARRIORS LOSE NINTH STRAIGHT

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 10.—(INS)—The luckless Philadelphia Warriors dropped their ninth successive Basketball Association of America game to the Baltimore Bullets last night, losing in the final 30 seconds, 92-91, before 3,000 in Baltimore.

Joe Fulks, Warrior forward, was high man for the Quakers with 20 tallies. Hal Tidrick, forward, showed the Bullets the way with 17 points.

County Leaguers To Hear Gomez

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, Ex-Yankee Star Hurler, Banquet Speaker Saturday

Lawrence County baseball league players, managers, officials and a few invited guests will hold their annual banquet at The Castleton hotel Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Places will be set for upwards of 150. President of the league Alec Samuels said today "everything is in readiness for the banquet, and we expect to have one of the finest of its kind ever held".

Gomez-Johnson Speakers

Heading the speaking program will be Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, the eccentric former New York Yankee star hurler, of the late Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig era. Gomez now a sporting goods salesman will have an interesting talk about his world series experiences.

Also listed for a talk is Vince Johnston, sports columnist of the Post Gazette, a very fluent speaker, and humorist. He will no doubt have quite a lot to say about the Pittsburgh Pirates as he follows them around the circuit and to spring training.

Richards Toastmaster

Bart Richards, one of the city's most notable toastmasters, will handle the program in his own inimitable manner, and assures the baseball men of an enjoyable and humorous evening.

The Wampum Victory club team, the 1948 county and city champions, will be honored at the dinner. They will get the pennant, and a lot of praise will be spread for Manager Jim Wardman and his gang.

It will be a banquet worth attending, and the men are eagerly looking forward to tomorrow evening.

Ralph Greenleaf Here Tonight

Ralph Greenleaf, 21 times world's pocket billiard champion, will give an exhibition at the Hicks and Rigby billiard room, on Washington street, tonight at 7:45. This is his first appearance in New Castle since 1929.

Many old-timers remember seeing him then, and many of New Castle's returned soldiers saw him while in the service, as he gave hundreds of free exhibitions during the war. Ralph is well known to be the greatest cue expert at the pocket game. He has always been the best drawing card as an exhibitionist.

PENN SCHEDULES PITT PANTHERS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The University of Pittsburgh and the University of Virginia have been added to the University of Pennsylvania's 1949 football schedule released today.

Pitt, conqueror of mighty Penn State and now directed by former Navy coach Tom Hamilton, will face the Quakers on Franklin field on Oct. 29. Virginia will be met on Nov. 5.

The Red and Blue opens its season on Oct. 1 against Dartmouth. The schedule also includes Princeton, Columbia, Navy, Army and Carnell.

Plan To Form Table Tennis Association

"Y" physical director Harold Pears today announced that plans are being formulated to organize a Lawrence county table tennis association.

The purpose of the new club will be to coordinate the activities of the many young people in the county who are interested in the popular indoor sport. The new organization plans to offer ping pong instruction for beginners as well as for those attempting to develop tournament skills. A county-wide tournament is also part of the club's program.

Fifteen men have already signed up as being interested in such an organization. Others who wish to join should contact Harold Pears at the "Y".

P. vs Epworth; 5:15, St. George vs Third U. P.; 6, First Methodist vs First Presby; 6:45, First Christian vs Second U. P.; 7:30, A. Z. A. vs Trinity.

LEGION, CALABRIA, UNITED ENGINEERING, IN C-I LEAGUE WINS

American Legion basketball team found the wining combination last night and laced Local No. 69, 52 to 12, in a C-I league contest at the "Y". Cavelli and Spears had 10-points apiece to lead the high scoring vets.

Lou Krueger meshed 5 field goals and connected on 6 out of 7 free throws to rack up 16 points as the Calabria Club defeated El Fityet 45 to 39. Red Ross supplied 11 more points for the winners as did Jim Fair for El Fityet.

United Engineering took the measure of the pottery local No. 3125, 40 to 29. Wayne Gray had 15 points for the winners and Bob Pitzer's 8 was high for the losers.

Benjamin F. Shibe, one time president and part owner of the Philadelphia A's, was the originator of the cork center ball.

AT A SALARY of $35,000 a year, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, becomes czar of the grunt-and-groan business. Lewis has been named chairman of the Wrestling Promoters' Association of America. (International)

Split Season In Middle-Atlantic

Each club in the Mid-Atlantic league next year will get two shots at the championship, the club owners at the Minneapolis minor league meeting having adopted the suggestion of Michael Cannavino, New Castle general manager, for a split season in 1949.

The winner of the first half will play the winner of the second half in a four out of seven games series for the championship. Thus the Shaughnessy playoff is eliminated by the Mid-Atlantic.

The adopting of a split season will create more of an interest in the league and will serve to increase attendances.

ROCKETS ADD TWO GOOD DEFENSE MEN

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The Philadelphia Rockets added two defense men to the squad today in an effort to strengthen the city's entry in the American Hockey league.

The Rockets obtained from Springfield Laurier Andrew Archambeault, who has been playing with Washington, and Rudolph M. Brodeur of Fort Worth in the U. S. league.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

DID Elkins Brothers, local heavyweight 'socker' error in leaving the care of Andy Fair, the First ward constable, who, years ago, was a sparring partner to the once good Battling Terry, lightweight? Elkins shook the dust from his brogans and signed a contract with John Carter of Washington, D. C., who operates several beverage places. Since his departure Brothers boxed in Cleveland, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, winning and losing, but of late, nothing has been heard of him. Whether he is active or inactive, isn't known. As an amateur Brothers drew down what was considered tall money for an amateur. . . . The query "How high can a deer jump?" has been an interesting question to some deer hunters. However, it took another turn today, the query being: "How far can a deer jump?" to which Mike Quinn, city painter, said: "Several years ago while riding in an auto down Coaltown hill, toward Farrell, I saw a deer leap across the highway at the bottom of the hill. He ran so fast and jumped so quick he looked like a 'sparrow'." The road at that point is 35 feet wide. . . . At an Evening's Evenin', held by the Penn Power Men's club, Johnny Othites seconded one of the fighters. After a lively mix-up, Johnny got the impression that the crowd wanted more, so he pulled a bottle of ketchup from his pocket and when the fighter he handled, returned to the corner, suppretitiously emptied some of the red fluid upon the fighter's face, giving him the appearance of having been struck with a meat cleaver. . . . Homer Gray, who boxed several good fights in the Jolly bowl, handled another fighter, as did Jack Biddle, current middleweight, who has lost his last three bouts due to eye cuts. . . . Tom Frank is keen for the City league and thinks a lot of his Franks, so much, in fact, he gave them a steak dinner in an out-of-town restaurant recently. . . . The Ellwood City-Wampum Rod & Gun club will meet at 8 o'clock Monday night, in the club-house. Motion pictures will be displayed and refreshments served, according to Harold McKim, popular secretary of the club.

If Rinieri Ronzi's hand was fractured in a bout several weeks ago in Cleveland, it must have mended rapidly, because he lost to Steve King in the forest city, Tuesday night. Defeat or no defeat, Ronzi would like to fight Billy Pozza here. He would give the Ellwood Kid a good testing. . . . Hugh McCormick reports there are a lot of raccoons on his Harlansburg farm. . . . Squirrels are also to be found in Cooper's woods. . . . Neal Williams, Jr., bagged a buck near Marienville. . . . Apparently the report that the grand-daddy buck of Edenburg district, said to be a 14-pointer, had been shot, was erroneous So far no confirmation of the report has been received. . . . Ears will be glued to the radio tonight when Ezzard Charles fights Joe Baski in New York. The broadcast at 10 p. m. The Billy Conn vs. Joe Louis exhibition in Chicago, will be broadcast at 11 p. m. . . . One of the original boosters, and a real stand-by in the County circuit who will be at the loop's dinner, Saturday evening, will be Jim Martin of Bessemer.

Musial Voted Third Time As National Loop Most Valuable

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Stan Musial, hawk-eyed slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, Thursday became the first National leaguer ever to win the Baseball Writers association most valuable player award three times.

Musial previously had won in 1943 and 1946 and in being voted in again for his performances during the 1948 season he thus became a three-time most valuable player along with two American leaguers — Joe DiMaggio and Jimmy Foxx.

Musial will receive the Kenesaw Mountain Landis plaque by a landslide margin in the voting of a 24-man baseball writers committee in the National league cities.

18 First Votes

He received 18 first place votes, four second, a third and a fourth.

This compares favorably with the 22 firsts, a second and third Lou Boudreau received recently in winning the American league MVP award for the first time.

The only surprise in both cases was that neither player received unanimous first place votes.

Of the six dissenters in Musial's case, five voted for Johnny Sain, Braves' pitcher as best and one for Alvin Dark, Braves' shortstop. These two finished second and third respectively. Behind them in order came Sid Gordon, Giants; Harry Brecheen, Cardinals; Pee Wee Reese, Dodgers; Ralph Kiner, Pirates; Enos Slaughter, Cardinals; Danny Murtaugh, Pirates and Stan Rojek, Pirates.

Had No Trouble

An analysis of Musial's play discloses why the selecting committee had no trouble in reaching a correct and popular decision.

Here are some of the things the brilliant outfielder did:

He hit .376 to win the batting title for the third time.

His longest batting slump lasted only four days in which he went to bat 13 times without a hit, although he drove outfielders back to the fences for some of his drives.

He opened the season with a remarkable stint in which he went from April 20 to May 31 without going hitless in two successive games.

He hit safely in 121 of the 155 games played. He hit an amazing .412 through the month of June. In 68 games he made at least two hits each, and in 79 games he made at least one extra base hit.

In other words, he not only hit often but far.

Dodgers 'Cousins'

Branch Rickey thinks his Dodger pitching staff is the best in the league. But Dodger pitchers were Musial's favorite dish. In one three game series he went to bat 16 times against them and got 11 hits, including a homer, triple and four doubles.

Musial also tied a major league record set by the immortal Ty Cobb in 1922 by getting five hits in five times at bat in five different games.

That, incidentally, is a new National league record. The best previous marks were set by Edd Roush and Fred Lindstrom who went five-for-five on three separate occasions.

Stan fielded his position beautifully. He also ran the bases well and was a constant inspiration to his teammates.

Ecclesian Club Plans Fast Team

New Castle Ecclesian Club has made extensive preparations to insure that they will have one of the strongest basketball teams in the district this season.

Coaches Sammy Bullano and Charles "Red" Ross are putting together a strong combination that is anxious to meet any of the better teams in the area. In addition to the playing coaches, the Eccelesian five will have John "Rags" Gennock, Sammy Ciazza, Sam Delillo, Kruger, Mike Cioppi, Joe Fulena, Harp Janacone, Gabby DeCaprio and Pete Stack.

Shooting For Title

The Ecclesians club is in the City-County League and are also shooting for the title in the YMCA C-I loop. In the "Y" league they are known as the Calabro club and they have a very good record there.

The Ecclesians have a home floor and will play games at home or anywhere in the district. Business Manager Gabby DeCaprio said today that his team would like to schedule the Eagles, Falcons, Boosters and the Ellwood Vets. DeCaprio may be reached by calling 5550-R or 1012-J.

Conn And Louis Battle Tonight In Exhibition

Billy Conn Can Earn Third Match With Louis For Title, By Showing Tonight

By SID FRIEDMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—The comeback trail for Billy Conn begins or ends tonight in Chicago, depending upon the attitude of the fists of World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

When Billy meets the champion for the third time in their pugnacious careers Louis' crown will not be on the line as it was in their other two encounters in 1941 and 1946. Louis kayoed the one-time challenger in each of those engagements.

Tonight's fight is scheduled as a six-round "no decision" exhibition. The contestants will wear 14-ounce gloves, known in the profession as "pillow," but no head protectors.

Expect 12,000

Some 12,000 fans will fill the International Amphitheater to capacity to see if Billy can make a good showing against his old time nemesis.

Louis is all to eager to prove that he is the same master that flattened "Billy the Kid" in their title bouts.

Conn has trained hard for his third meeting with Louis. The champion, also, has been hitting the road and pounding punching bags in preparation for the bout. Both appear to be in good condition.

Conn expects to weigh in at about 186 pounds while Louis says he will top the scales at 220.

Susie Gives Them Run For Their Doe

COOS BAY, Ore.—(INS)—City park workers know its a day's work to go deer hunting and bring 'em back alive.

Susie, a doe which slipped through a hole in the fence, was cornered on a lumber dock. She jumped off and swam to an island a half a mile away.

The tugboat overtook her as she neared the island but failed to lasso her before she climbed ashore. After playing tag with the pursuers for an hour on the island, the deer took to the water again, getting the pursuers soaking wet because they had to wade to their boat.

Tossed Line Around Her Neck

After some fancy maneuvering by the tugboat, the men got a line about Susie's neck. She put up a fierce struggle in the water but eventually they tied her hooves and hoisted the 200-pound doe aboard.

Susie was transferred to a truck. No chances were taken at the zoo. She was rolled right into her pen on a coaster wagon, still trussed. Susie calmly munched a handful of tobacco, her favorite food, apparently unwinded. Her pursuers trudged away wearily—to get some rest.

LUCKY TARGET SHOOT SUNDAY

Gay Holiday Costumes Can Be Dangerous

A lighted match dropped on a little girl's skirt. Pouf! A blaze. The child couldn't get the costume off fast enough to save herself.

Incidents such as that are a menace of the holidays, the National Board of Fire Underwriters warned in a plea to parents to protect their children from flammable clothing at Christmas.

Flimsy party costumes, the great number of flammable decorations and the rising number of fires around the holidays—highest in the entire year—make Christmas a dangerous time for children.

Parents are advised to choose tightly woven materials in preference to porous, loose weaves, which, because of the greater amount of oxygen provided by the open spaces, blaze out of control so fast that it's impossible to remove them. Some manufacturers flameproof children's costumes. Look for the label.

The National Board recommended a flame proof solution for costumes which are likely to flash fire. The mixture of 9 ounces of borax and 4 ounces of boric acid dissolved in two quarts of warm water can be used as a last rinse after each washing, they advise. The material should be well saturated, wrung out by hand and hung to dry.

Not only children's clothes, the underwriters added, but decorations around the base of the Christmas tree as well as Santa Claus' beard and costume should be made fire-resistant.

SPORT SHORTS

Friends of Lewis R. (Hack) Wilson in Martinsburg are trying to raise $3,000 to place a memorial on the grave of the former major league baseball player.

A sophomore, Bob Parsons, of Philadelphia, is captain-elect of the 1949 Penn State cross-country team. Parsons, who succeeds Horace Ashenfelter, of Collegeville, is the third Olney High School graduate to win this honor.

The fabulous racing empire of film magnate Louis B. Mayer dwindled still further recently with a third auction sale of his thoroughbred horses.

Where Stoneham may make a mistake with Durocher will be in believing that he has gone far enough just by hiring him to manage the team.

New York Stocks

NARROW RANGE IN STOCK MARKET

Moderately Active Dealings Are Reported In Stock Market This Morning

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—(INS)—The stock market held narrowly in moderately active forenoon dealings today with only a scattering of issues showing more than fractional price changes.

Caroline Power and Light common broke 3¼ points to a new low at 26¾ on unusually heavy sales. The decline followed termination of the selling agreement and removal of price restrictions by the underwriting group. The latter had offered 350,000 shares of the issue at 30 a short time back.

Atlantic Gulf and West Indies was a strong spot, advancing 1¾ points to a new 1948 peak at 48¾ following a 3½ point jump yesterday. The rise was associated with reports that new interests were seeking control of the company.

Beech Aircraft also attracted buying and gained about a point on declaration of a 50 per cent stock dividend.

The old-line pivotal leaders such as U. S. Steel, General Motors, Standard Oil of New Jersey and General Electric were little changed.

Indicative of the stalemate was the fact that the 65 stock average compiled by Dow-Jones showed a net gain of 2-100ths of a point at the end of the first hour.

Bonds were inclined to drift lower. Commodities were irregular, with grains fractionally lower and cotton steady.

PLASTER FALLS—ON HIS FEET

UNFAILING ABILITY of cats always to land on their feet when they fall has mystified cat lovers over the centuries. Now Kenneth J. Germeshausen of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has employed the high speed, multiflash photo technique, shooting five pictures a second, to show how it's done. Appearing not at all disturbed as the subject of the experiment is Plaster, winner of the 1948 All-Eastern and All-American Cats magazine award. Seven pictures show him from the time he was dropped upside down to his perfect four-point landing on a rubber cushion. (International)

"Christmas Tree Caravan"

This year the New Castle Store is participating in the "Christmas Tree Caravan". This means we have a community Christmas Tree on our Balcony where customers may leave a Christmas gift for the needy youngsters of New Castle. These gifts will NOT be distributed by the New Castle Store but by the Salvation Army.

Ted Malone, Westinghouse "roving reporter" with the cooperation of the National Retail Dry Goods Ass. is trying to reach into the home of every underprivileged child in the United States. In a country as rich as America no youngster should wake up Christmas morning with an empty stocking.
